Mortal Questions Thomas Nagel, 2012-03-26 Thomas Nagel's Mortal Questions explores some fundamental issues concerning the meaning, nature and value of human life. Questions about our attitudes to death, sexual behaviour, social inequality, war and political power are shown to lead to more obviously philosophical problems about personal identity, consciousness, freedom and value. This original and illuminating book aims at a form of understanding that is both theoretical and personal in its lively engagement with what are literally issues of life and death.

Mortal Questions Thomas Nagel, 1979

The Nonhuman Turn Richard Grusin, 2015-03-09 Edited by Richard Grusin of the Center for 21st Century Studies, this is the first book to name and characterize and therefore consolidate a wide array of current critical theoretical and philosophical approaches to the humanities and social sciences under the concept of the nonhuman turn. Each of these approaches is engaged in decentering the human in favor of a concern for the nonhuman understood by contributors in a variety of ways in terms of animals, affectivity, bodies, materiality, technologies and organic and geophysical systems. The nonhuman turn in twenty-first century studies can be traced to multiple intellectual and theoretical developments from the last decades of the twentieth century: actor network theory, affect theory, animal studies, assemblage theory, cognitive sciences, new materialism, new media theory, speculative realism and systems theory. Such varied analytical and theoretical formations obviously diverge and disagree in many of their assumptions, objects and methodologies. However, they all take up aspects of the nonhuman as critical to the future of twenty-first century studies in the arts, humanities and social sciences. Unlike the posthuman turn, the nonhuman turn does not make a claim about teleology or progress in which we begin with the human and see a transformation from the human to the posthuman. Rather, the nonhuman turn insists, paraphrasing Bruno Latour, that we have never been human; that the human has always coevolved, coexisted or collaborated with the nonhuman and that the human is identified precisely by this indistinction from the nonhuman. Constitutionalising Secession David Haljan, 2014-11-01 Constitutionalising Secession proceeds from the question: What if anything does the law have to say about a secession crisis? But rather than approaching secession through the optic of political or nationalist institutional accommodation, this book focuses on the underpinnings to a constitutional order as a law-making community underpinnings laid bare by secession pressures. Relying on the corrosive effects of secession, it explores the deep structure of a constitutional order and the motive forces creating and sustaining that order A core idea is that the normativity of law is best understood through a constitutional optic as an integrative associative force Constitutionalising Secession critically analyses conceptions of constitutional order implicit in the leading models of secession and takes as a leading case study the judicial and legislative response to secession in Canada The book therefore develops a concept of constitutionalism and law making associative constitutionalism to describe their deep structure as a continuing integrative process of association This model of a dynamic process of value formation can address both the association and the disassociation of constitutional systems Dracula and Philosophy Nicolas Michaud, Janelle Pötzsch, 2015-07-14 Twenty four nocturnal philosophers stake out and vivisect Dracula from many angles unearthing evidence from numerous movies and shows macabre terrifying tragic and comic Altmann decides whether Dracula can really be blamed for his crimes since it s his nature as a vampire to behave a certain way Arp argues that Dracula s addiction to live human blood dooms him to perpetual misery Karavitis sees Dracula as a Randian individual pitted against the Marxist collective Ketcham contrives a meeting between Dracula and the Jewish theologian Maimonides Littmann maintains that if we disapprove of Dracula s behavior we ought to be vegetarians Mahon uses the example of Dracula to resolve nagging problems about the desirability of immortality McCrossin and Wolfe disinter some of the re interpretations of this now mythical character and asks whether we can identify an essential Dracula Pramik shows how the Dracula tale embodies Kierkegaard s three stages of life Barkman and Versteeg ponder what it would really feel like to be Dracula The Greens publish some previous unknown letters between Dracula and Camus s Meursault Vuckovich looks at the sexual morality of characters in the Dracula saga De Waal explains that Dragula is scary because every time this being appears it causes gender trouble The Meaning of Terrorism C. A. J. Coady, 2021-05-27 In The Meaning of Terrorism C A J Coady clarifies competing and confusing definitions of terrorism and of terrorist acts that proliferate in specialist publications as well as in popular discourse Coady aims to construct a concept of a terrorist act that both reflects a central core of these different understandings which provides for a more coherent and fruitful discussion of terrorism and its moral and political significance The goal is therefore not only to gain clarity about what the term designates but also to probe various dimensions of the moral meaning of our understanding of terrorism for complex social and political circumstances The opening chapters sketch the commonly propounded definitions and propose what Coady calls a tactical definition with a focus on terrorist acts as violent attacks upon non combatants or innocents The benefits of such an approach are laid out and defences against numerous objections that can be and have been made to it are given The book critically discusses theorists who argue that independent of its definition terrorist acts have a special and profoundly disturbing moral significance Coady explores the scope and meaning of non combatant status and its relation to recent controversies in the philosophy of war and discusses important attempted philosophical defences of terrorism for certain contexts The book closes with a discussion of the moral challenges facing attempts at counter terrorism and examines the commonly held view that religion is particularly prone to cause terrorism or some of its most extreme manifestations International Development Seth Appiah-Opoku, 2017-04-26 This book brings together leading researchers in the field of international development to examine issues relating to food security health rural development human development and institutional strengthening in developing countries Based on empirical research the book discusses a variety of topics including nutrition sensitive agricultural development in South Africa household food security in Tanzania medical research in Egypt child mortality in Christian and Islamic countries spot improvement of rural roads in Asia and Africa resilience in natural disaster the relationship between foreign aid and human development in Africa and finally developing competencies for rural development project management through the creation of local action groups in Argentina The book is insightful and serves as an important reference material on international development New Statesman Society, 1993-05 Three Thousand Recitation Making Questions and Suggestions ... Mignon Wright, 1927 Michigan Law Review, 2012 Bioethics Megan-Jane Johnstone, 1999 Provides nurses with a text that covers the history and nature of mainstream bioethics and its relationship to nursing It also stimulates critical thinking on bioethical issues as these relate to the real world of the practising nurse Bioethics T.
