How to Wipe Out Your Student Loans and Be Debt Free Fast Martha Maeda, 2009. According to a recent study by the National Center for Education Statistics, an estimated 65 percent of recent college graduates are burdened by student loans. Although the average debt is 19,000, loans can exceed 50,000 and may be much higher for those who attend graduate school, law school, or medical school. Many students faced with the task of repaying such a large amount of money become overwhelmed merely thinking about it. But using this new book, you can learn how to eliminate your student loans and be debt free. In this exhaustively researched book, you will learn everything you need to know about student loans, including grace periods, deferment, forbearance, interest rates, co-signors, exit counseling, prepayment, discharges, cancellation, default, and much more. You will create a repayment schedule, understand the various repayment options such as graduated repayment, level repayment, income sensitive repayment, extended repayment, serialization, and income contingent repayment, and be able to choose the appropriate plan for your unique situation. Additionally, you will learn how to save money through consolidation, how to secure the best interest rate, how consolidating can improve your credit score, how to use lender incentive programs to save money, and how to lower interest rates. Whether you are a current student looking to get a jumpstart on repayment or you are a recent graduate trying to wade through the letters you are receiving from your lenders and consolidation companies, How to Wipe Out Your Student Loans and Be Debt Free will be an indispensable companion. Independent Banker, 2006. How to College Andrea Malkin Brenner, Lara Hope Schwartz, 2025-06-25. The first practical guide of its kind that helps students transition smoothly from high school to college. The transition from high school and home to college can be stressful. Students and parents often arrive on campus unprepared for what college is really like. Academic standards and expectations are different from high school; families aren't present to serve as scaffolding for students; and first years have to do what they call "adulting." Nothing in the college admissions process prepares students for these new realities. As a result, first-year college students report higher stress, more mental health issues, and lower completion rates than in the past. In fact, up to one-third of first-year college students will not return for their second year, and colleges are reporting an increase in underprepared first-year students. How to College is here to help. Professors Andrea Malkin Brenner and Lara Schwartz guide first-year students and their families through the
