The Trouble with Reality Brooke Gladstone, 2017-05-16 Every week on the public radio show On the Media the award winning journalist Brooke Gladstone analyzes the media and how it shapes our perceptions of the world Now from her front row perch on the day s events Gladstone brings her genius for making insightful unexpected connections to help us understand what she calls and what so many of us can acknowledge having trouble with reality Reality as she shows us was never what we thought it was there is always a bubble people are always subjective and prey to stereotypes And that makes reality actually more vulnerable than we ever thought Enter Donald J Trump and his team of advisors For them as she writes lying is the point The more blatant the lie the easier it is to hijack reality and assert power over the truth Drawing on writers as diverse as Hannah Arendt Walter Lippmann Philip K Dick and Jonathan Swift she dissects this strategy straight out of the authoritarian playbook and shows how the Trump team mastered it down to the five types of tweets that Trump uses to distort our notions of what s real and what s not And she offers hope There is meaningful action a time tested treatment for moral panic And there is also the inevitable reckoning History tells us we can count on it Brief and bracing The Trouble with Reality shows exactly why so many of us didn t see it coming and how we can recover both our belief in reality and our sanity

COVID-19 The Politics of a Pandemic Moral Panic Barry Cooper, Marco Navarro-Génie, 2020-11-27 COVID 19 The Politics of a Pandemic Moral Panic explores the political and social responses that have been tributary to the medical responses during the COVID 19 pandemic What is a moral panic The term was introduced by Stanley Cohen in his 1972 book Folk Devils and Moral Panics which was based on his PhD dissertation in sociology written at the London School of Economics It is in short a relatively recent term in social science The focus of any analysis of moral panic is whether an issue is distorted and exaggerated in such a way as to produce an obvious over reaction on the part of social and political authorities Such a process occurs in stages 1 an event or perhaps a person is defined as a threat perhaps only a vague threat to existing values traditions or interests 2 the event is simplified and presented in the mass and now social media in a stereotypical way 3 moral barricades are manned by editors politicians experts and other right thinking people and socially authorized knowers 4 ways of coping with the disturbance are developed and eventually 5 the public profile of the disturbance event individual etc declines and is forgotten or is retained as a memory and as a diffuse or potential threat Cohen called this aftermath a folk devil The chief emotion associated with a moral panic is fear John Lee M D retired professor of pathology and a National Health Service consultant pathologist summarized the point about the history of the virus over the past couple of decades The spread of viruses like COVID 19 is not new What is new is our response
