Inhomogeneous Random Evolutions and Their Applications Anatoliy Swishchuk, 2019-12-11 Inhomogeneous Random Evolutions and Their Applications explains how to model various dynamical systems in finance and insurance with non homogeneous in time characteristics It includes modeling for financial underlying and derivatives via Levy processes with time dependent characteristics limit order books in the algorithmic and HFT with counting price changes processes having time dependent intensities risk processes which count number of claims with time dependent conditional intensities multi asset price impact from distressed selling regime switching Levy driven diffusion based price dynamics Initial models for those systems are very complicated which is why the author's approach helps to simplify their study The book uses a very general approach for modeling of those systems via abstract inhomogeneous random evolutions in Banach spaces To simplify their investigation it applies the first averaging principle long run stability property or law of large numbers LLN to get deterministic function on the long run To eliminate the rate of convergence in the LLN it uses secondly the functional central limit theorem FCLT such that the associated cumulative process centered around that deterministic function and suitably scaled in time may be approximated by an orthogonal martingale measure in general and by standard Brownian motion in particular if the scale parameter increases Thus this approach allows the author to easily link for example microscopic activities with macroscopic ones in HFT connecting the parameters driving the HFT with the daily volatilities This method also helps to easily calculate ruin and ultimate ruin probabilities for the risk process All results in the book are new and original and can be easily implemented in practice
