Global Meets Digital Vinod Jain,2023-06-02 The world today is at the intersection of two megatrends Globalization and Digitalization a business revolution unfolding in real time Global Meets Digital captures the many nuances of this revolution succinctly including its impact on our lives and business An immediate implication of this revolution is that the economic principles that underpinned business and strategy for hundreds of years such as diminishing returns to scale and resource scarcity are no longer valid for a large and growing number of products and services The book will challenge you to think differently not just about digital products but also about physical products In the global digital world products are of three kinds physical digital and smart machines products that are both physical and digital and connected to the internet a distinction missed by most books on strategy and global business The economics of each kind of products is distinct from that of the others which has strategic implications for all kinds of businesses implications such as how to compete and how to create and capture value With several mini case studies and over 100 company examples the book covers themes and cutting edge issues like the paradox of globalization digital disruption disruptive business models exponential technologies Internet of Things competition in digital markets winner take all market dynamics Industry 4.0 how to innovate strategizing for the New Normal and value creation and value capture in both B2C and B2B contexts The book derives its underpinnings from the practice of global and digital business while theory remains in the background Intended specifically for an executive professional audience Global Meets Digital should also be of value to business students and professors learning to dip their toes into a digital world Vinod Jain is an expert in global and digital strategy award winning professor Fulbright Scholar and author of an MBA textbook Global Strategy He taught at the Rutgers Business School Newark and New Brunswick and the Robert H Smith School of Business University of Maryland College Park At Maryland he was also the Founding Director of the federally funded Center for International Business Education and Research and Academic Director of Smith School s Executive MBA program in China Since leaving Maryland he has taught in China Denmark Finland Poland and India as a visiting or term professor His opinion pieces have appeared in The Washington Post The Baltimore Sun Mensa Bulletin and Economic Times and Mint India s 1 and 2 business dailies among other media In the past he worked as a middle and senior level executive with American and British multinationals Vinod has a PhD in Strategy and International Business from the University of Maryland College Park MS in Management from UCLA and MS and BS Hons in Statistics from the Indian Statistical Institute Calcutta

Dangerous Technologies Brandaan Huigen, 2015-11-10 Dangerous Technologies focuses on the prevalent theft of consumer electronics in post Apartheid South Africa Through a material culture perspective it explores why these objects have commonly been targeted by bandits and subsequently circulated through the criminal underground The author traces ethnographically how devices travel between various social spheres delving into the experiences of a range of individuals from diverse residents who fall victim to criminals to the bandits who steal electronics for money or drugs the African migrants who export consignments of stolen electronics to their home countries the envious residents who buy stolen electronics and finally the police attempting to grapple with the problem Dangerous Technologies suggests that electronics have widened digital divides between citizens resulting in underground circuits that seek to violently redistribute enviable electronics to low income residents who have not been able to formally participate in electronics consumption and use Due to porous borders the widespread theft and redistribution of electronics do not only stem from internal inequalities within South African society but also from broader disparities across the African continent The book furthers knowledge about how and why particularly modern electronics have precipitated violent property crime in democratic South Africa It is relevant to scholars of social and cultural anthropology particularly those with an interest in material culture digital anthropology and economic and political anthropology as well as criminologists

The Economist ,2012 The Black Box Society Frank Pasquale,2015-01-05 Every day corporations are connecting the dots about our personal behavior silently scrutinizing clues left behind by our work habits and Internet use The data compiled and portraits created are incredibly detailed to the point of being invasive But who connects the dots about what firms are doing with this information The Black Box Society argues that we all need to be able to do so and to set limits on how big data affects our lives Hidden algorithms can make or ruin reputations decide the destiny of entrepreneurs or even devastate an entire economy Shrouded in secrecy and complexity decisions at major Silicon Valley and Wall Street firms were long assumed to be neutral and technical But leaks whistleblowers and legal disputes have shed new light on automated judgment Self serving and reckless behavior is surprisingly common and easy to hide in code protected by legal and real secrecy Even after billions of dollars of fines have been levied underfunded regulators may have only scratched the surface of this troubling behavior Frank Pasquale exposes how powerful interests abuse secrecy for profit and explains ways to rein them in Demanding transparency is only the first step An intelligible society would assure that key decisions of its most important firms are fair nondiscriminatory and open to criticism Silicon Valley and Wall Street need to accept as much accountability as they impose on others
