What Matters for Health and Happiness Among the Older Adults in Asia Nai Peng Tey,Halimah Awang,Shekhar Chauhan,2024-03-11 People want to live a healthy and happy later life A large body of literature shows the close association between health status and happiness and between health and active engagement in work exercise and social and religious activities However the causation between the two can run both ways and it is difficult to determine the causal effect with cross sectional data Various authors have shown the significant influence of socioeconomic factors and human needs on older people s health status and happiness A better understanding of the factors affecting healthy and happy aging is essential for policymaking to improve the well being of older people The availability of data from HRS family studies in several Asian countries CHARLS in China LASI in India JSTAR in Japan KLoSA in Korea IFLS in Indonesia HART in Thailand MARS in Malaysia and Longitudinal Study of Ageing and Health in Viet Nam see Gateway to Global Aging Data provides an excellent opportunity for researchers to examine factors affecting health and happiness among older adults within and across Asian countries This research topic aims to gather papers that investigate the socioeconomic attitudinal and behavioural factors affecting the health status and happiness life satisfaction of older adults in Asia The dependent variables may include physical health mental health disability ADL IADL cognitive functioning self rated health health expenditure feeling of happiness and life satisfaction The independent variables may be age gender marital status place of residence educational level active engagement work exercise social and religious activities family and social relationship and support outlook in life smoking drinking and access to and utilization of healthcare services etc Manuscripts can be based on individual countries or cross country analysis preferably using the panel data to establish the causal effects of the independent variables on the dependent variables

Ainslee's, 1913 Left to Their Own Devices Julie M. Albright, 2019 Digital natives are hacking the American Dream Young people brought up with the Internet smartphones and social media are quickly rendering old habits and norms a distant memory creating the greatest generation gap in history In this eye opening book digital sociologist Julie M Albright looks at our device obsessed society and the many ways in which the post World War II American Dream is waning for the Millennial generation Albright notes that in the former age of traditional media dominated by three major TV networks and the national print media values were more harmonized and time synchronized Today with a deluge of information available 24 7 we are experiencing a sort of digital tribalism with people coalescing inside of increasingly fragmented informational echo chambers Digital media allows bad actors to enlarge the rifts between these siloed tribes in divide and conquer fashion frothing up fears by propagating fake news and fake people online What are other effects of hyper connectivity coupled with disconnection from stabilizing social structures Albright sees both positives and negatives On the one hand mobile connectivity has given digital nomads the unprecedented opportunity to work or live anywhere On the other hand new threats are emerging including cyberbullying and the ability to radicalize marginalized youth decreased physical exercise increased isolation anxiety and loneliness ephemeral relationships fragmented attention spans lack of participation in community activities and the political process and detachment from the calm of nature or the refuge of religion In this time of rapid global technologically driven change this book offers fresh insights into the effects of always on devices on the family community business and society at large
