Collective Identity in Augustan Rome Dorian Borbonus, 2019-05-16 Columbarium tombs are among the most recognizable forms of Roman architecture and also among the most enigmatic. The subterranean collective burial chambers have repeatedly sparked the imagination of modern commentators but their origins and function remain obscure. Columbarium Tombs and Collective Identity in Augustan Rome situates columbaria within the development of Roman funerary architecture and the historical context of the early Imperial period. Contrary to earlier scholarship that often interprets columbaria primarily as economic burial solutions, Dorian Borbonus shows that they defined a community of people who were buried and commemorated collectively. Many of the tomb occupants were slaves and freed slaves for whom collective burial was one strategy of community building that counterbalanced their exclusion in Roman society. Columbarium tombs were thus sites of social interaction that provided their occupants with a group identity that this book shows was especially relevant during the social and cultural transformation of the Augustan era.

With(Out) Trace: Interdisciplinary Investigations into Time, Space and the Body Simon Dwyer, Rachel Franks, Reina Green, 2019-07-22 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2015. This book With out Trace: Inter Disciplinary Investigations into Time Space and the Body unpacks many of the issues that surround the idea of trace: what we intentionally and unintentionally leave behind as well as how trace can help us to move forward. In particular, this volume looks at how an inter disciplinary approach can suggest new ways of seeing and subsequently exploring interconnections between time space and the body. The papers within this work accomplish more than tracing a theme, a theory or discipline within the study of time space and the body. Moreover, the collection does not simply trace past debates about the relationship between the three. Indeed, the interdisciplinarity of this collection will, it is hoped, suggest other ways of seeing the field and of tracing new paths through it. Exploring those new perspectives and new paths will undoubtedly enrich future thinking about the interconnections between time space and the body.

The Oxford Dictionary of Architecture James Stevens Curl, Susan Wilson, 2015 With over 6 000 entries, this is the most authoritative dictionary of architectural history available.

The Barcelona Reader Enric Bou, Jaume Subirana, 2017-07-24 The first comprehensive Reader to accompany the remarkable city of Barcelona.

Places of Public Memory Greg Dickinson, Carole Blair, Brian L. Ott, 2010-08-02 Though we live in a time when memory seems to be losing its hold on communities, memory remains central to personal, communal and national identities. And although popular and public discourses, from speeches to films, invite a shared sense of the past, official sites of memory such as memorials, museums and battlefields embody unique rhetorical principles. Places of Public Memory: The Rhetoric of Museums and Memorials is a sustained and rigorous consideration of the intersections of memory, place and rhetoric. From the mnemonic systems inscribed upon ancient architecture to the roadside acci.

Death and Architecture James Stevens Curl, 2002 Richly illustrated with over 350 photographs, plans and engravings, this fascinating and unusual book examines the importance of funerary architecture in the development of architectural style. It reveals many hidden wonders and beauties throughout the world.

Monuments for Posterity Antony Kalashnikov, 2023-04-15 Monuments for Posterity challenges the common assumption that Stalinist monuments were constructed with an immediate propagandistic function arguing instead that they were designed to memorialize the present for an imagined posterity In this respect even while pursuing its monument building program with a singular ruthlessness and on an unprecedented scale the Stalinist regime was broadly in step with transnational monument building trends of the era and their undergirding cultural dynamics By integrating approaches from cultural history art criticism and memory studies along with previously unexplored archival material Antony Kalashnikov examines the origin and implementation of the Stalinist monument building program from the perspective of its goal to immortalize the memory of the era He analyzes how this objective affected the design and composition of Stalinist monuments what cultural factors prompted the sudden and powerful yearning to be remembered and most importantly what the culture of self commemoration revealed about changing outlooks on the future both in the Soviet Union and beyond its borders Monuments for Posterity shifts the perspective from monuments political ideological content to the desire to be remembered and prompts a much needed reconsideration of the supposed uniqueness of both Stalinist aesthetics and the temporal culture that they expressed Many Stalinist monuments still stand prominently in postsocialist cityscapes and remain the subject of continual heated political controversy Kalashnikov makes manifest monuments intentional attempts to seduce us the posterity for whom they were built

China's Contested Capital Charles D. Musgrove, 2013-07-31 When the Chinese Nationalist Party nominally reunified the country in 1928 Chiang Kai shek and other party leaders insisted that Nanjing was better suited than Beijing to serve as its capital For the next decade until the Japanese invasion in 1937 Nanjing was the model capital of Nationalist China the center of not just a new regime but also a new modern outlook in a China destined to reclaim its place at the forefront of nations Interesting parallels between China's recent rise under the Post Mao Chinese Communist Party and the Nationalist era have brought increasing scholarly attention to the Nanjing Decade 1927-1937 however study of Nanjing itself has been neglected Charles Musgrove brings the city back into the discussion of China's modern development focusing on how it was transformed from a factional capital with only regional influence into a symbol of nationhood a city where newly forming ideals of citizenship were celebrated and contested on its streets and at its monuments China's Contested Capital investigates the development of the model capital from multiple perspectives It explores the ideological underpinnings of the project by looking at the divisive debates surrounding the new capital's establishment as well as the ideological discourse of Sun Yat Sen used to legitimize it In terms of the actual building of the city it provides an analysis of both the scientific methodology adopted to plan it and the aesthetic experiments employed to construct it Finally it examines the political and social life of the city looking at not only the reinvented traditions that gave official spaces a sacred air but also the ways that people actually used streets and monuments including the Sun Yat Sen

Mausoleum to pursue their own interests often in defiance of Nationalist repression Contrary to the conventional story of incompetence and failure Musgrove shows that there was more to Nationalist Party nation building than simply paper plans that never came to fruition He argues rather that the model capital essentially legitimized a new form of state power embodied in new symbolic systems that the Communist Party was able to tap into after defeating the Nationalists in 1949 At the same time the book makes the case that although it was unintended by party planners who promoted single party rule Nanjing's legitimacy was also a product of protests and contestation which the party state only partially succeeded in channeling for its own ends China's Contested Capital is an important contribution to the literature on twentieth century Chinese urban history and the social and political history of one of China's key cities during the Republican period
