Pathways To Language From Fetus To Adolescent The Developing Child:

Pathways to Language Kyra Karmiloff, Annette Karmiloff-Smith, 2002-04-30 A remarkable mother daughter collaboration balances the respected views of a well known scholar with the fresh perspective of a younger colleague in a comprehensive overview of the theory and practice of language acquisition

Pathways to Language Kyra KARMILOFF, Annette Karmiloff-Smith, Kyra Karmiloff, 2009-06-30 Our journey to language begins before birth as babies in the womb hear clearly enough to distinguish their mother's voice Canvassing a broad span of experimental and theoretical approaches this book introduces new ways of looking at language development A remarkable mother daughter collaboration Pathways to Language balances the respected views of a well known scholar with the fresh perspective of a younger colleague prepared to challenge current popular positions in these debates The result is an unusually subtle even handed and comprehensive overview of the theory and practice of language acquisition from fetal speech processing to the development of child grammar to the sophisticated linguistic accomplishments of adolescence such as engaging in conversation and telling a story With examples from the real world as well as from the psychology laboratory Kyra Karmiloff and Annette Karmiloff Smith look in detail at the way language users appropriate words and grammar They present in depth evaluations of different theories of language acquisition They show how adolescent usage has changed the meaning of certain phrases and how modern living has led to alterations in the lexicon They also consider the phenomenon of atypical language development as well as theoretical issues of nativism and empiricism and the specificity of human language Their nuanced and open minded approach allows readers to survey the complexity and breadth of the fascinating pathways to language acquisition

An early sequential bilingual methodology for three to five-year-old children from public early childhood development centers Marín González, Clara Inés, Arias Castaño, Enrique Demesio, Durango Isaza, Diana Carolina, Garzón Ríos, John Sebastián, Rodríguez López, Ana Isabel, 2022-07-29 This research emerged from the need of consolidating a meaningful bilingual methodology for children from three to five years of age from low socioeconomic backgrounds belonging to the public education system where they could start learning English and Spanish by means of a bilingual methodology that provides them with the same opportunities as middle to high class children Its aim is to implement an Early Sequential Bilingual Methodology Model in a public Early Childhood Development Center ECDC Centro de Desarrollo Infantil CDI collect data from class observations student's responses teachers and English teachers views as well as parents' perceptions to consolidate the model contributing to the modification of the actual Colombian bilingual policy so to include early childhood Likewise it will provide children with new opportunities to develop higher cognitive and neuronal skills that can maximize their academic performance throughout their school years This present Early Sequential Bilingual Model is a descriptive case study funded by the Universidad Tecnológica de Pereira and was implemented in a public ECDC CDI in Pereira Risaralda Colombia based on the bilingual methodological proposals portrayed by Rodao 2011 and Arias et al 2015

This research project depicts and systematizes the most predominant methodological techniques used when teaching English at public ECDCs CDIs and interprets their effectiveness based on the data collected from surveys interviews observations and field notes as well as early childhood teachers researchers English teachers and parents perceptions towards the methodology and implementation

Narrative Development in Young Children Elena T. Levy,David McNeill,2015-05-28

As children begin to use language in early childhood they produce increasingly large units of coherent speech including narrative descriptions of events This book examines the process of narrative development in young children focusing on the development of cohesion the use of speech and gesture to create coherent perspectives on events Surveying early narrative development in which gesture plays an integral part the book explores the development of cohesive clause linking devices during the period from age two to three Illustrated with longitudinal cases studies the book examines the crib talk of two year old Emily and compares it to the discourse patterns of storybooks and nursery rhymes and to her father s pre bedtime routines In a second case study the authors trace the changing relationships between speech and gesture in the spontaneous narratives of two year old Ella This book will be invaluable to students and researchers in language acquisition

9781138823396 Phonology and Second Language Acquisition Jette G. Hansen Edwards,Mary L. Zampini,2008 This volume is a collection of 13 chapters each devoted to a particular issue that is crucial to our understanding of the way learners acquire learn and use an L2 sound system In addition it spans both theory and application in L2 phonology The book is divided into three parts with each section unified by broad thematic content Part I Theoretical Issues and Frameworks in L2 Phonology lays the groundwork for examining L2 phonological acquisition Part II Second Language Speech Perception and Production examines these two aspects of L2 speech in more detail Finally Part III Technology Training and Curriculum bridges the gap between theory and practice Each chapter examines theoretical frameworks major research findings both classic and recent methodological issues and choices for conducting research in a particular area of L2 phonology and major implications of the research findings for more general models of language acquisition and or pedagogy Children's English in Singapore Sarah Buschfeld, 2019-12-06 Combining the World Englishes framework with First Language Acquisition methodology this book investigates children's acquisition of L1 English in the context of multilingual Singapore one of the traditional Kachruvian Outer Circle or ESL countries The book investigates language choice use and dominance in Singaporean families identifies common linguistic characteristics of L1 Singapore English as well as the acquisitional route that Singaporean children take It discusses characteristics at the different levels of language organization i.e. phonological morphosyntactic lexical and pragmatic features drawing on a variety of systematically elicited data and Praat based acoustic analyses Comparing the results to similar data obtained from children living in England both mono and bi multilingual the book also sheds light on how the acquisitional steps taken by Singaporean children differ from or are similar to traditional native speakers of English and children from immigrant families in England The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Language Development Across Childhood and Adolescence Ruth Aronson

Berman, 2004-01-01 This volume brings together work by scholars with backgrounds in linguistics psycholinguistics developmental psychology education and language pathology As such the book adds psycholinguistic and crosslinguistic perspectives to the clinical and classroom approaches that have dominated the study of later language development Incorporating insights from prior language acquisition research it goes beyond preschool age to consider both isolated utterances and extended discourse conversational interactions and monologic text construction and both written and spoken language use from early school age across adolescence Data from French Hebrew Spanish and Swedish as well as English cover varied domains morphology and lexicon syntax and verb argument structure as well as peer interaction spelling processing of on line writing and reading poetry The epilogue suggests explanations for the findings documented Across the book the authors show how cognitive and social maturation combines with increased literacy in the path taken by schoolchildren and adolescents towards the flexible deployment of a growing repertoire of lexical elements in varied morphosyntactic constructions and different discourse contexts that constitutes the hallmark of maturely proficient language use

From Action to Cognition Claes Von Hofsten, Kerstin Rosander, 2007-10-19 Extensive neurophysiological and neuropsychological evidence show that perception action and cognition are closely related in the brain and develop in parallel to one another Thus perception cognition and social functioning are all anchored in the actions of the child Actions reflect the motives the problems to be solved and the constraints and possibilities of the child s body and sensory motor system The developing brain accumulates experiences which it translates into knowledge used in planning future actions Such knowledge is available because events are governed by rules and regulations The present volume discusses all these aspects of how action and cognition are related in development Development of Modality in First Language Acquisition Ursula Stephany,Ayhan Aksu-Koç,2021-03-08 This book deals with the development of modality from a crosslinguistic perspective and is closely related to two earlier volumes on the development of verb and nominal inflection in first language acquisition SOLA 21 and 30 both methodologically and theoretically Each of the fourteen contributions studies the early development of the form and function of expressions of deontic and dynamic agent oriented modality or epistemic and evidential propositional modality in one of fourteen languages belonging to different morphological types and language families seven Indo European and seven non Indo European The analyses are mainly based on longitudinal observations of children in their 2nd and 3rd years of life in conversational interaction with their caregivers mostly the mothers Main issues addressed are the development of directives and modulations of information in terms of certainty and evidentiality also taking into account children s developing social pragmatic and cognitive skills One of the main findings is that agent oriented and propositional modality may develop in parallel depending on the typological characteristics of the language acquired The decisive factor is whether notions of propositional modality are grammaticized and obligatorily expressed in the language The findings are interpreted within non nativist theoretical frameworks Usage based theories Natural Morphology
