Reimund Bieringer, Didier Pollefeyt, 2012-03-08 The New Perspective on Paul cleared Judaism contemporary to Paul of the accusation that it was a religion based on works of righteousness Reactions to the New Perspective both positive and critical and sometimes even strongly negative reflect a more fundamental problem in the reception of this paradigm the question of Sacred Texts and Paradigmatic Revolutions J. David Stark, 2014-01-16 This volume applies a rhetorical discourse method to the Yahadic manuscripts and Romans to show how community leaders uniquely determined specific hermeneutical rules axioms and paradigms for their communities Stark examines the Yahadic texts using Thomas Kuhn's arguments about scientific paradigms and their shifts as a framework for considering the patterns through which Paul and the Yahad interpret their scriptures Stark outlines the three ways in which the Teacher determined the perspective from which the Yahad approached its scriptures Following this he analyses the Romans and the three thematic ways that Jesus determined the perspective from which Paul approached his scriptures Despite strong similarities between them the paradigms under which the Yahad and Paul operated moved them to fundamentally different understanding of the kinds of faithfulness they should exhibit towards those whom they received as Yahweh's appointed agents The Yahad understood faithfulness to the Teacher within the context of Torah but Paul understood the Torah within the context of Abraham style faithfulness to Jesus 40

Schreiner, 2010-10-08 This volume by Dr Thomas R Schreiner on the interplay between Christianity and biblical law is an excellent addition to the 40 Questions Answers series Schreiner not only coherently answers the tough questions that flow from a discussion about the Old Testament Levitical Law but also writes clearly and engagingly for the student The pastor student and layperson can easily understand Schreiner's biblical theology of the Law Imagining Religion Jonathan Z. Smith, 2024-07-31 With this influential book of essays Jonathan Z Smith has pointed the academic study of religion in a new theoretical direction one neither theological nor willfully ideological Making use of examples as apparently diverse and exotic as the Maori cults in nineteenth century New Zealand and the events of Jonestown Smith shows that religion must be construed as conventional anthropological historical and as an exercise of imagination In his analyses religion emerges as the product of historically and geographically situated human ingenuity cognition and curiosity simply put as the result of human labor one of the decisive but wholly ordinary ways human beings create the worlds in which they live and make sense of them These seven essays display the critical intelligence creativity and sheer common sense that make Smith one of the most methodologically sophisticated and suggestive historians of religion writing today Smith scrutinizes the fundamental problems of taxonomy and comparison in religious studies suggestively redescribes such basic categories as canon and ritual and shows how frequently studied myths may more likely reflect situational incongruities than vaunted mimetic congruities His final essay on Jonestown demonstrates the interpretive power of the historian of religion to render intelligible that in our own day which seems most bizarre Richard S Sarason

Religious Studies Review Reading Romans in Context Zondervan, 2015-07-28 Readers of Paul today are more than ever aware of the importance of interpreting Paul's letters in their Jewish context In Reading Romans in Context a team of Pauline scholars go beyond a general introduction that surveys historical events and theological themes and explore Paul's letter to the Romans in light of Second Temple Jewish literature. In this non-technical collection of short essays beginning and intermediate students are given a chance to see firsthand what makes Paul a distinctive thinker in relation to his Jewish contemporaries. Following the narrative progression of Romans each chapter pairs a major unit of the letter with one or more thematically related Jewish text. It introduces and explores the theological nuances of the comparative text and shows how these ideas illuminate our understanding of the book of Romans.

The Concept of the Covenant in the Second Temple Period Stanley E. Porter, J.C.R. de Roo, 2021-11-22 During the reign of Cyrus the Great founder of the Achaemenid Empire the Jews returned to Jerusalem to rebuild the temple. This Second Temple period is characterised by a changing mode of thinking. This volume traces the development of the concept of the covenant during this important era by discussing relevant texts among the Apocrypha such as Wisdom of Solomon the Pseudepigrapha especially the Dead Sea Scrolls and Jubilees and the New Testament such as the Pauline Letters. The authors deal with interesting concepts related to the idea of the covenant such as law wisdom election grace the kingdom of God and even the role of food. This is an important piece of work for understanding the notion of the covenant in Judaism and Christianity useful for theologians and historians as well as students of the respective disciplines.

Did Jesus Teach Salvation by Works? Alan P. Stanley, 2006-09-20 Jesus teaches that regardless of one's profession if one does not demonstrate a changed life produced by God one will not enter into heaven. Such a judgment will be made when Jesus returns and judges every person according to his or her works. While this may seem contradictory to some more well-known passages ruling out the role of works in salvation e.g. Rom 3:21-4:25 Gal 2:16-21 Eph 2:8-9 there is every good reason to understand that Jesus' teachings complement such passages. The works that admit one into heaven are not works produced by the flesh before conversion but works produced by God after conversion. They will fundamentally be characterized by a life of discipleship love for others and endurance in faith and obedience and will therefore serve to confirm that one indeed did have a relationship with God during one's life.

Reading Paul in Context: Explorations in Identity Formation Kathy Ehrensperger, J. Brian Tucker, 2010-12-02 Targum and New Testament Martin McNamara, 2011 The relevance of the Targums Aramaic translations of the Hebrew Bible for the understanding of the New Testament has been a matter of dispute over the past three hundred years principally by reason of the late date of the Targum manuscripts and the nature of the Aramaic. The debate has become more focused by reason of the Qumran finds of pre-Christian Aramaic documents 1947 and the identification of a complete text of the Palestinian Targum of the Pentateuch in the Vatican Library Codex Bezae Cantabrigiae 1956. Martin McNamara traces the history of the debate down to our own day and the annotated translation of all the Targums into English. He studies the language situation Aramaic and Greek in New Testament Palestine and the interpretation of the Scriptures in the Targums with concepts and language similar to the New Testament. Against this background relationships between the Targums and the New Testament are examined. A way forward is suggested by regarding the tell like structure of the Targums with layers from different ages and a continuum running through for certain texts

Paul's Language of Grace in its Graeco-Roman Context James R. Harrison, 2017-01-03 Paul's Language of Grace in Its Graeco Roman Context was originally published by Mohr Siebeck in 2003 and is now reprinted by Wipf and Stock with a new introduction by its author James R Harrison The book was the first major investigation of charis grace favor in its social political and religious context since G P Wetter's pioneering 1913 monograph on the topic Focusing on the evidence of the inscriptions papyri philosophers and Greek Jewish literature Harrison examined the operations of the eastern Mediterranean benefaction system probing the dynamic of reciprocity between the beneficiary and benefactor whether human or divine Before Paul's converts were first exposed to the gospel they would have held a variety of beliefs regarding the beneficence of the gods The apostle therefore needed to tailor his language of grace as much to the theological and social concerns of the Mediterranean city states in his missionary outreach as to the variegated traditions of first century Judaism In terms of human grace although Paul endorses the reciprocity system he redefines its rationale in light of the gospel of grace and transforms its social expression in his house churches The explosion of grace language that occurs in 2 Corinthians 8 9 regarding the Jerusalem collection is unusual in its frequency in comparison to the honorific inscriptions underscoring the apostle's distinctive approach to giving Regarding divine beneficence Paul accommodates his gospel to contemporary benefaction idiom But he retains a distinctiveness of viewpoint regarding divine charis it is non cultic it is mediated through a dishonored and impoverished Benefactor it overturns the do ut des expectation I give so that you may give regarding divine blessing in antiquity Harrison's book still remains the authoritative coverage of the Graeco Roman context of charis
