Dawson,2020-08-18 Meal prepping is meal prepping a meal or recipe then portioning it out to grab and go meals for later If you've ever kept your leftovers from dinner to take with you for lunch then extend then you've learned mini meal prepped Generally though meal prepping refers to preparing 3-7 days worth of food at a time Think of it like keeping your lunches for the week all at once instead of keeping your lunch for the week You can use this same technique for breakfast lunch dinner and snacks Meal prepping doesn't necessarily waste and reduce the time to get outside your house whether the plan is a diet or a budget When keeping your meal prepped all day out of the question meal prepping will allow you to still eat healthy meals without having to do it every day Meal prepping is not for everyone It is good for the value convenience and efficiency more than anything With meal prepping you generally eat the same thing for a few days in a row so if you don't like leftovers or get bored with food meal prepping is not for you If having nutritious food that maximizes your time and budget is more valuable to you then trying something different every day meal prepping is not for you I've generally not seen a meal prep for the month or maybe one other person do a whole month Meal prepping for a whole month would be quite difficult but the more you try to do it would be a more successful one A food is stored in the refrigerator for a slow decline in quality In addition to the way food is packed the individual nuances of your refrigerator can impact the quality of your refrigerated meal So fit in the life of the refrigerator acceptable health and texture and flavor will be subject to the eater Always begin with the refrigerator guidelines to be the FDA and then evaluate them against your own preferences In general I don't think it's more than a few days worth of a meal but I find that because of the food quality and the flavor to enjoy
