Cyber Security Engineer

Dear Hiring Manager,

As a fervent advocate for online privacy, I jumped at the chance to apply for the Cyber Security Engineer position at Google. My first experience with Google was back in high school when I built a website for a community project using Google Sites. I've been a fan of the company's dedication to innovation ever since, and I am eager to contribute to its mission of making the internet a safer place for everyone.

In my previous role at Resume Worded, I led a small team in implementing a new security protocol that reduced the risk of data breaches by 30%. This experience taught me the importance of staying up-to-date with cutting-edge cyber security trends and technologies. During my time at CyberTech Solutions, I developed a threat detection system that reduced response times to potential cyber attacks by 45%. I believe my knack for identifying and addressing vulnerabilities, combined with my experience in both small and large-scale projects, would make me a valuable asset to Google's Cyber Security team.

What excites me most about this role is the opportunity to work on projects that will impact millions of users worldwide. I have always been passionate about ensuring the privacy and security of online users, and working at Google would enable me to make a tangible difference in this area. I am eager to learn from and collaborate with the talented team at Google to continue making advancements in cyber security.

Thank you for considering my application. I am looking forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences align with Google's needs and contribute to building a safer internet for all.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

theme is that the management of cybersecurity needs to be owned by the people running the organisation rather than by the cybersecurity team who frequently don't have management as a core skill. In order to effect that change, managers need to have the background and detail to challenge what they are being told, enabling them to engage in a way that will result in more appropriate outcomes for the business. This book provides that background and detail. It debunks a number of cyber myths and calls out basic errors in the accepted thinking on cyber. The content is strongly rooted in available research and presented in an accessible manner with a number of business-related case studies. Each chapter in the book takes a theme such as end-user behaviours and compares the available evidence with what the industry would like to have its customers believe. The conclusion is that there is definitely a problem and we certainly need cyber defences. Just not the ones the industry is currently selling.
