Singapore's Multiculturalism Chan Heng Chee, Sharon Siddique, 2019-03-15 Since independence in 1965 Singapore has developed its own unique approach to managing the diversity of Race Religion Culture Language Nationality and Age among its citizens This approach is a consequence of many factors including its very distinct ethnic makeup compared with its neighbours its ambitions as a globally oriented city state and its small physical size Each of these factors and many others have presented Singapore society with a range of challenges and opportunities and will in all likelihood continue to do so for the foreseeable future In the writing of this book the author team set themselves the task of projecting the impact of current domestic and international social trends into the future to anticipate what Singapore society might look like by around 2040 In doing so they analyse the particular path that Singapore has taken since independence in comparison with other multicultural societies and with regard to the balance between the necessity of forging a new national identity after British rule and departure from Malaysia and the need to ensure that Singapore s ethnic minority populations remain socially enfranchised They further consider how current trends may develop over the next couple of decades what new challenges this may present to Singapore society and what might be the likely responses to such challenges In this book Singapore is a case study of a global city facing the challenges of developed world modernity in frequently acute ways The European Magazine and London Review, by the Philological Society of London, 1808 Reading Westworld Alex Goody, Antonia Mackay, 2019-05-09 Reading Westworld is the first volume to explore the cultural textual and theoretical significance of the hugely successful HBO TV series Westworld. The essays engage in a series of original enquiries into the central themes of the series including conceptions of the human and posthuman, American history, gaming, memory, surveillance, AI, feminism, imperialism, free will and contemporary capitalism. In its varied critical engagements with the genre narratives and contexts of Westworld, this volume explores the show's wider and deeper meanings and the questions it poses as well considering how Westworld reflects on the ethical implications of artificial life and technological innovation for our own futurity. With critical essays that draw on the interdisciplinary strengths and productive intersections of media, cultural and literary studies, Reading Westworld seeks to respond to the show's fundamental question: Have you ever questioned the nature of your reality? It will be of interest to students, academics and general readers seeking to engage with Westworld and the far-reaching questions it poses about our current engagements with technology.

Facebook Nation Newton Lee, 2012-09-15 President Barack Obama in his 2011 State of the Union Address called America the nation of Edison and the Wright brothers and of Google and Facebook. U.S. Chief Information Officer Steven VanRoekel said that America has become a Facebook nation that demands increased transparency and interactivity from the federal government. Facebook as a nation in 2012 would be the third largest country in the world with over 900 million citizens after China and India. This book portrays the social media ecosystem as a world of increasing Total Information Awareness which is essentially a civilian version of the controversial Total Information Awareness program unveiled in 2002 by the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) at the U.S. Department of Defense. Back in the 60s DARPA initiated and funded the research and development of Advanced Research Projects Agency Network (ARPANET) that went online in 1969. The success of ARPANET gave rise to the global commercial Internet in the 90s and the new generation of Fortune 500 companies today including Amazon.com, Google, eBay and Yahoo. As if life comes full circle in the 21st century, private businesses and the ubiquity of social networks such as Facebook, Google, Twitter and YouTube are creating the technologies and infrastructures necessary for the DARPA proposed Total Information Awareness program. WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange called Facebook the most appalling spying machine that has ever been invented. Indeed, military and civilian technologies have interwoven into every fabric of our society as Facebook co-founder and CEO Mark Zuckerberg said: We exist at the intersection of technology and social issues. This book offers discourse and practical advice on the privacy issue in the age of big data, the rise of Facebook nation and Total Information Awareness. Opening with President Ronald Reagan's 1984 National Security Decision Directive and ending with George Orwell's novel 1984, the author takes us on a roller coaster ride through Facebook's botched IPO, Carrier IQ, Kony 2012, SOPA/PIPA blackout, cyber bullying, crime fighting and a host of other timely issues facing our Facebook nation. Social media strategists, information architects, social scientists, policymakers and academic scholars in the Program in Science, Technology and Society (STS) will find this book a valuable asset.
