Perfect Being Theology Reason And Religion Eup:

Perfect Being Theology Katherin A Rogers, 2019-08-07 That being than which a greater cannot be conceived This was the way in which the living God of biblical tradition was described by the great Medieval philosophers such as Augustine Anselm and Aquinas Contemporary philosophers find much to question criticise and reject in the traditional analysis of that description Some hold that the attributes traditionally ascribed to God simplicity necessity immutability eternity omniscience omnipotence creativity and goodness are inherently incoherent individually or mutually inconsistent Others argue that the divinity described by philosophers cannot be the same as the providential God of revelation In Perfect Being Theology Katherin A Rogers defends the traditional approach considering contemporary criticisms but concluding that the most adequate account of the nature of God should build upon the foundation laid by the Medieval philosophers Written in a lively and accessible style and offering an important historical perspective this book covers key areas of contention and many of the major ideas and thinkers from all sides of the debate are included

God and Necessity Brian Leftow, 2012-09-06 Brian Leftow offers a theory of the possible and the necessary in which God plays the chief role and a new sort of argument for God's existence It has become usual to say that a proposition is possible just in case it is true in some possible world roughly some complete history a universe might have and necessary just if it is true in all Thus much discussion of possibility and necessity since the 1960s has focussed on the nature and existence or not of possible worlds God and Necessity holds that there are no such things nor any sort of abstract entity It assigns the metaphysical work such items usually do to God and events in God's mind and reduces broadly logical modalities to causal modalities replacing possible worlds in the semantics of modal logic with God and His mental events Leftow argues that theists are committed to theist modal theories and that the merits of a theist modal theory provide an argument for God's existence Historically almost all theist modal theories base all necessary truth on God's nature Leftow disagrees he argues that necessary truths about possible creatures and kinds of creatures are due ultimately to God's unconstrained imagination and choice On his theory it is in no sense part of the nature of God that normal zebras have stripes if that is a necessary truth Stripy zebras are simply things God thought up and they have the nature they do simply because that is how God thought of them Thus Leftow's essay in metaphysics takes a half step toward Descartes view of modal truth and presents a compelling theist theory of necessity and possibility

Plantingian Religious Epistemology and World Religions Erik Baldwin, Tyler Dalton McNabb, 2018-11-29 To what extent can non-Christian religious traditions utilize Plantinga's epistemology And if there are believers from differing religious traditions that can rightfully utilize Plantinga's religious epistemology does this somehow prevent a Plantingian's creedal specific religious belief from being warranted In order to answer these questions Baldwin and McNabb first provide an introduction to Plantinga's religious epistemology Second they explore the prospects and problems that members of non-Christian religions face when they attempt to utilize Plantingian religious epistemology Finally they sketch out possible approaches to holding that a Plantingian's creedal specific religious belief can be warranted even given believers from other religious traditions who can also rightfully make full use of Plantinga's religious epistemology

Jesus and Philosophy Paul K. Moser, 2008-10-13 What if anything does Jesus of Nazareth have to do with philosophy This question motivates this collection of essays from leading theologians philosophers and biblical scholars Part I portrays Jesus in his first century intellectual and historical context attending to intellectual influences and contributions and contemporaneous similar patterns of thought Part II examines how Jesus influenced two of the most prominent medieval philosophers It considers the seeming conceptual shift from Hebraic categories of thought to distinctively Greco Roman ones in later Christian philosophers Part III considers the significance of Jesus for some prominent contemporary philosophical topics including epistemology and the meaning of life The focus is not so much on how Christianity figures in such topics as on how Jesus makes distinctive contributions to them
