The "New Culture" Weiping Sun, Mingcang Zhang, 2015-08-25 Contemporary China in an era of globalization and in the midst of transition now faces both great opportunities and unprecedented challenges. People are more and more becoming economic man, technological man, and one-dimensional man, and are increasingly losing the virtue, dignity, and beauty of human nature. When humanity's habitat grows smaller and smaller, as economic, technological, informational, and social interaction become more and more intense, while conflicts of interest and clashing values are growing increasingly heated, how should different religions, national groups, and states deal with each other? As environmental pollution worsens, our ecosystem becomes increasingly unstable, and population growth becomes an unbearable burden, where shall we look for a homeland where we can rest our weary minds? To answer these daunting questions and address their attendant challenges, all human activities, including institutional arrangements, economic constructions, and science and the arts, must all start from the change of humankind: re-think the true nature of humankind and its needs, and consider the prospect of humankind evolving into a better humankind. This book is an exploration of such inquiries.
