Perspectives on Culture and Agent-based Simulations Virginia Dignum, Frank Dignum, 2013-11-11 This volume analyses from a computational point of view how culture may arise develop and evolve through time The four sections in this book examine and analyse the modelling of culture group and organisation culture culture simulation and culture sensitive technology design Different research disciplines have different perspectives on culture making it difficult to compare and integrate different concepts and models of culture By taking a computational perspective this book nevertheless enables the integration of concepts that play a role in culture even though they might originate from different disciplines Culture is usually regarded as something vague and qualitative and thus difficult to deal with in a computational and formal setting Taking a computational approach to culture thus encompasses a twofold risk taking a too simplistic approach to cultural influence on behaviour or trying to capture too much hence not leading to useful computational tools However the approaches and insights in this collection show how different perspectives by leading researchers described in thirteen chapters still can form a coherent picture The book thus illustrates the potential of using computing systems to better understand culture By describing methods theories and concrete application results about the integration of cultural aspects into computer systems this book provides inspiration to researchers of all disciplines alike and presents the start of an interdisciplinary dialogue on culture nishedwiththefollowingmissionstatementonthe Future Direction on Computers for Handicapped Persons The different themes show that a lot of problems are solved by the usage of computer technology for helping handicapped persons for instance for the blind and visually handicapped A consequence of the discussed themes there are two directions which should be done in the next years One direction is obvious The tools must be improved and research and development work should be extended to all groups of handicapped even if they are numerically not so large as for instance the blind or visually handicapped persons On the other side in the area of social implications there is an increasing demand on social science studies on overall computer use among disabled persons Because sources are in principle missing today about disabled persons work tasks research in this field must begin by trying to survey this aspect Particular attention should be paid to the extent and character of computer use among the handicapped in work life There are a lot of questions which should be answered during the next years for reaching the aim of rehabilitation Fifteen years later the 9th International Conference on Computers Helping People with Special Needs Paris 2004 offered a comprehensive and deepened view on general awareness special research and individual applications concerning disabled people and their participation in our society
