Robert Kaplinsky, Author and Consultant, Long Beach, CA. Empower young adolescents to be the change, join the teaching mathematics for social justice movement. Students of all ages and intersecting identities through media and their lived experiences bear witness to and experience social injustices and movements around the world for greater justice. However, when people think of social justice mathematics rarely comes to mind. With a user-friendly design, this book brings middle school mathematics content to life by connecting it to issues students see or experience. Developed for use by Grades 6-8 educators, the contributed model lessons in this book walk teachers through the process of applying critical frameworks to instruction using standards-based mathematics to explore, understand, and respond to social injustices. Learn to plan daily instruction that engages young adolescents in mathematics explorations through age-appropriate, culturally relevant topics such as health and economic inequality, human and civil rights, environmental justice, and accessibility. Features include: Content cross-referenced by mathematical concept and social issues; Connection to Learning for Justice's social justice standards; Downloadable teacher materials and lesson resources; Guidance for lessons driven by young adolescents' unique passions and challenges; Connections between research and practice. Written for teachers committed to developing equitable and empowering practices through the lens of mathematics content and practice standards as well as social justice standards, this book will help connect content to young adolescents' daily lives, strengthen their mathematical understanding, and expose them to issues that will support them in becoming active agents of change and responsible leaders.

 Jeanne B. Repetto, 2006. The Middle School Experience helps prospective or current middle school teachers succeed as they work with students who have diverse learning needs, particularly students with disabilities. This helpful book shows how to integrate transition planning with age-appropriate instruction and emotional support. Such integration fosters self-determination in students with disabilities as they progress into high school and plan for adult life. The Middle School Experience presents a model of the integration process called The MidEx Model. The MidEx Model serves dual purposes: a) to provide information and resources to current and prospective professionals, and b) to demonstrate how teachers and other professionals can present information and resources to middle school students. Each chapter incorporates information from the MidEx Model and offers strategies for classroom implementation. Horizons, 2004 Mathcad Mathsoft, Inc, 1986
