Paved With Good Intentions The Ngo Experience In North Korea:

Paved with Good Intentions L. Gordon Flake, Scott A. Snyder, 2003-08-30 Includes statistics Famine in North Korea Stephan Haggard, Marcus Noland, 2009-06-22 In the mid 1990s as many as one million North Koreans died in one of the worst famines of the twentieth century Stephan Haggard and Marcus Noland present the most comprehensive and penetrating account of the famine to date examining not only the origins and aftermath of the crisis but also the regime's response to outside aid and the effect of its current policies on the country's economic future North Korea's famine exemplified the depredations that can arise from tyrannical rule and the dilemmas such regimes pose for the humanitarian community To reveal the state's culpability is a vital project of historical recovery especially in light of our current engagement with the North Korean question Korea and the Global Society Yonson Ahn, 2023-02-03 This book explores multiple fields and disciplines around the theme of South Korea's engagement and exchanges with global society focusing on development cooperation migration and the media The core of this volume is an analysis of South Korea's engagement and reciprocity in global society that has developed out of the country's shift from aid recipient and migrant sender to aid provider and migrant host The contributions approach this through the three main aspects of overseas aid cross border contacts and interplay of identities in the mediascape These themes represent an interdisciplinary array of research that introduces and analyses interconnected and concurrent instances of reciprocity convergence tension inclusion or exclusion in navigating South Korea's interactional relations with global society spanning regions and countries including Africa Asia the USA and Germany This book will be valuable reading to students and researchers from a wide range of disciplines including sociology gender studies ethnic studies media studies IR and area studies in particular Korean studies The New Famines Stephen Devereux, 2006-11-22 The recent occurrences of famine in Ethiopia and Southern Africa have propelled this key issue back into the public arena for the first time since 1984 as once again it becomes a priority not only for lesser developed countries but also for the international community Exploring the paradox that is the persistence of famine in the contemporary world this book looks at the way the nature of famine is changing in the face of globalization and shifting geo political forces The book challenges perceived wisdom about the causes of famine and analyzes the worst cases of recent years including close analysis of food scarcity in North Korea Ethiopia Sudan and Malawi and less well known cases in Madagascar Iraq and Bosnia With fresh conceptual frameworks and analytical tools major theoretical constructs which have previously been applied to analyze famines such as the democracy ends famine argument Sen's entitlement approach and the complex political emergency framework are confronted This volume assembles an international team of contributors including Marcus Noland Alex de Waal and Dan Maxwell an impressive roster which helps make this book an important resource for those in the fields of development studies and political economics North Korea Paul French, 2014-05-08 North Korea continues to make headlines arousing curiosity and fear in equal measure The world's most secretive nuclear power it still has Gulag style prison camps allows no access to the Internet and bans its people from talking to foreigners without official approval In this remarkable and eye opening book internationally best selling author Paul French examines in forensic detail the history and politics of North Korea Pyongyang s complex relations with South Korea Japan China and America and the implications of Kim Jong un s increasingly belligerent leadership following the death of his father Kim Jong il As an already unstable North Korea grows ever more unpredictable antagonizing enemies and allies alike North Korea State of Paranoia delivers a provocative and frightening account of a potentially explosive nuclear tripwire Towards Korean Reconciliation Gabriel Jonsson,2017-11-30 Despite historic summits and spectacular acts of reconciliation between the rival neighbours promises of improved cross border relations between North and South Korea have been slow to materialize In this insightful book Gabriel Jonsson examines the impact that increased levels of socio cultural contact has had on inter Korean relations the concrete results that have been achieved and how such contact has contributed to closer relations and offers the prospect of reconciliation With reference to lessons from the German and Yemeni unification the book examines the development of inter Korean relations and presents a fascinating view of South Korean perceptions of their neighbours The book also details the wider political sphere of influence with an analysis of the positions of the United States Japan China and Russia on Korean unity Based primarily on Korean language sources this volume provides completely unique perspectives on Korean unity

North Korea and the Timeless Dilemma of Aid Michael Schloms,2004 Famine aid in North Korea was and continues to be accompanied by controversies and disputes Based upon the North Korean case and other famine aid missions in the past this book analyzes the timeless dilemma of aid and puts a number of recent debates surrounding today s humanitarianism into perspective The American Asian Review ,2003 The Kim Jong Il Regime in North Korea Charles W. Tarrington,2009 Much hyperbole surrounds the political regime in the Democratic People s Republic of Korea DPRK or North Korea Many analysts argue that North Korea is a unique political system What kind of regime is the DPRK and what kind of leader does it have A variety of labels are given to the North Korean regime These include likening the regime to an organised crime family and to a corporatist organism There are certainly merits to each of these approaches but each has its limitations Pyongyang does share some of the attributes of organised crime and certainly engages in criminal activity in a systematic and calculating manner This pattern of illicit behaviour includes the production and distribution of narcotics as well as the counterfeiting of foreign currencies cigarettes and pharmaceuticals But the DPRK is more than a crime family it possesses a massive conventional military force as well as significant strategic forces Moreover the regime continues to brainwash imprison or starve North Koreans inflicting untold misery and death on its people Corporatism meanwhile may provide insights into certain aspects of the system but its utility is limited by the confusion that surrounds understanding of this concept An absolute dictator still rules the regime The Korean Journal of International Studies ,2004 NIRA's World Directory of Think Tanks ,2005 Asian Economic Papers ,2004 International Journal of Korean Unification Studies ,2007 North Korea Philip W. Yun,Gi-Wook Shin,2006 2005 will be remembered as a year with crucial implications for the Korean peninsula and beyond It may go down in history as the year the United States was able to establish a foundation to resolve peacefully and once and for all the intractable problem of North Korea s nuclear weapons activity It could also be the year that North Korea committed itself to becoming a nuclear weapons state without compromise Understanding that 2005 had the potential to be a watershed the contributors to this timely volume which grew out of a major conference at the Walter H Shorenstein Asia Pacific Research Center at Stanford University present a snapshot of what is happening in North Korea consider how Americans and South Koreans view current developments and offer policy suggestions about what can and should be done going forward long after 2005 draws to a close Contributors include Robert Carlin Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization Haksoon Paik Sejong Institute Korea William B Brown U S Civil Service ret and George Mason University Dong Yong Sueng Samsung Economic Research Institute David Hawk U S Committee for Human Rights in North Korea Kim Ki Sik People s Solidarity for Participatory Democracy Scott Snyder Asia Foundation Pacific Forum CSIS Taik young Hamm Kyungnam University and Henry S Rowen Shorenstein APARC

China's Rise and the Two Koreas Scott Snyder,2009 With China now South Korea s number one trading partner and destination for foreign investment and tourism what are the implications for politics and security in East Asia Scott Snyder explores the transformation of the Sino South Korean relationship since the early 1990s Snyder considers the strategic significance of recent developments in China s relationship with both North and South Korea and also assesses the likely consequences of those developments for US and Japanese influence in the region His meticulous study lends important context to critical debates regarding China s foreign policy Northeast Asian security and international relations more broadly This title examines China s redefined political and economic relations with North and South Korea as well as what this implies for US and Japanese influence in Northeast Asia Journal of East Asian Studies ,2008 Asian Perspective ,2008 Journal of international development Life & Human Rights ,2003 North Korea in the 21st Century James Hoare,Susan Pares,2005 North Korea is not easily accessible but boasts some of the most beautiful scenery in the Korean Peninsula and arguably in East Asia Travel to and in North Korea is tightly controlled while political economic social and cultural life is played out in terms of a not readily understood philosophy known as juche Insight Into Korea ,2007
