

BIG QUESTION

My PAW-sitively PAW-some Hy-PAW-thesis

By Preston D.A.
De Leon

PROCEDURE

- 1. I put some cats in a room and then let the cat try to get the treats out of the tube using their paws. Then I dropped the cat treats in front of each cat to see which paw they would use to play with the treat. I also put food on the top of each cat to see if they would wipe it off. For each cat, I marked if they used their right or left paw. I tried these tests many times to see what would happen.

CONCLUSION

The cats that I tested mostly did not have dominant paws. The cats that were in the tests sometimes, sometimes the cats used their left, right, or both paws. Some of the cats had a dominant left paw and some had a dominant right, but they seemed to just use whichever would help them when they couldn't get to the treat. They sometimes even used their head to get the treat.

What I Learned

I learned that sometimes the cats weren't interested in treats or playing, but sometimes they were more interested than the other cats were during tests. I learned some cats were both paws, some were right paws, and some were left paws. I also found out that I was right about

HYPOTHESIS
