Beginners and Dummies Barbara Dawson, 2020-08-18 Meal prepping is making a meal or recipe then portioning it out to grab and go meals for later. If you've ever kept your leftovers from dinner to take with you for lunch, then next time you've made a mini meal prepped. Generally though meal prepping refers to preparing 3-7 days worth of food at a time. Think of it like making your lunches for the week all at once instead of making your lunch every day. You can use this same technique for breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snacks. Meal prepping doesn't necessarily waste and reduce time to eat outside unless you plan ahead or a budget. When making your meal plan, ask yourself the question: "What will I eat each day without having to do it every day?" Meal prepping is not for everyone. It is good for those who value convenience and more time than others. With meal prepping, you generally eat the same thing for a few days in a row so you don't get bored with food. Meal prepping is not for those who are maximizing their time or budget. It is more of a lifestyle than something you do every day. Meal prepping is generally seen as a meal for yourself or maybe one other person, not a whole family. Meal prepping for a whole family would be quite difficult but it would be a good idea if you have a small family. A fridge is stored with fresh ingredients in a slow cooker. In addition to the way food is packed, the individual nuances of your refrigerator can impact the food. The refrigerator's acceptable handling temperature and flavor will be a big factor. Always begin with the refrigerator's guidelines to be sure you are following the FDA and then follow your own preferences. In general, I don't like to eat more than five days worth of food, but I find that about five days of food is a good amount to have. Meal Prep Ideas Angela Williams, 2017-07-06 Are you looking for some creative and very practical meal prep ideas?
