Penman's Art Journal, Vol. 33 Horace G. Healey, 2018-02-09 Excerpt from Penman s Art Journal Vol 33 January August 1909 During my short stay in England I endeavored to learn as much as I could about the condition of the working classes While the salaries paid skilled workmen do not compare very favorably with the salaries paid in America yet I find that the British family is just as happy and contented even more so than many in our own country They live simple honest comfortable lives A salary of from four to eight dollars a week is paid on the average the best being possibly ten dollars but the low price paid for rent makes this sum go much further Prices for food and clothing seem to be about the same Their children while being simply dressed do well in school American youths could learn much from their British cousins in the way of thoroughness On the whole their children of thirteen years of age are well advanced in their studies especially in English literature and mathematics A great Spirit of progress is pervading the country Free education and the passage of many helpful laws are doing much to make the condition of the lower classes much more pleasant In the happy family lives the contentment of the working classes the stability of its business institutions we have much to learn from the mother country About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do
