Affirmative Action Matters Laura Dudley Jenkins, Michele S. Moses, 2014-04-04 Affirmative Action Matters focuses specifically on affirmative action policies in higher education admissions the sphere that has been the most controversial in many of the nations that have such policies It brings together distinguished scholars from diverse nations to examine and discuss the historical political and philosophical contexts of affirmative action and clarify policy developments to further the meaningful equality of educational opportunity This unique volume includes both well established and emerging policies from the Americas Europe Africa and Asia policies which developed under a variety of political systems and target a range of underrepresented groups based on race ethnicity gender class social background or region Accessible and thought provoking case studies of affirmative action demonstrate that such policies are expanding to different countries and target populations While some countries such as India have affirmative action policies that predate those in the United States affirmative action is a recent development in countries such as Brazil and France Legal or political pressures to move away from explicitly race based policies in several countries have complicated affirmative action and make this assessment of international alternatives particularly timely New or newly modified policies target a variety of disadvantaged groups based on geography class or caste in addition to race or sex International scholars in six countries spanning five continents offer insights into their own countries experiences to examine the implications of policy shifts from race toward other categories of disadvantage to consider best practices in student admission policies and to assess the future of affirmative action

Legislature. Senate. Rules Committee, 2007-04 The 160-Character Solution Benjamin L. Castleman, 2015-11-15 A fascinating study that brings the power of behavioral economics to how schools work how students learn and how we can help them succeed For decades schools have invested substantial resources in boosting educational outcomes for disadvantaged students but those investments have not always generated positive outcomes Although many communities have expanded school choice for example families often choose to keep their children in failing schools And while the federal government has increased the size of Pell Grants many college bound students who would be eligible for aid never apply Then there is the troubling trend of summer melt in which up to 40 percent of high school graduates who have been accepted to college mostly from underserved communities fail to show up for the fall semester In The 160 Character Solution Benjamin L. Castleman shows how insights from behavioral economics the study of how social cognitive and emotional factors affect our decisions can be leveraged to help students complete assignments perform to their full potential on tests and choose schools and colleges where they are well positioned for success By employing behavioral strategies or nudges Castleman shows administrators teachers and parents can dramatically improve educational outcomes from preschool to college Castleman applies the science of decision making to explain why inequalities persist at various stages in education and to identify innovative solutions to improve students academic achievement and attainment By focusing on behavioral changes Castleman demonstrates that small changes in how we ask questions design applications and tailor reminders can have remarkable impacts on student and school success

I'm Not an Artist Giovanni Aloisio, 2025-01-23 Romanticized notions of how one becomes an artist have long been questioned so why do we still fetishize them in popular culture turning a blind eye to the politics of exclusionism that characterize the art world and conforming our creative potential to well trodden stereotypes I'm Not an Artist is a critical appraisal of the role of the artist through time and an account of how successful artists have conquered their spot in the history of art from the rise of the Renaissance artist star to the multiplicity of artistic identities we see in the creative landscape today Entertaining informative and packed with important but lesser known stories about how artists became famous it examines the cultural importance of the professional label artist and invites readers to give up the artist myth in order to rediscover creativity beyond the stronghold of institutions markets trends and cultural clichés It's a book about art artists art history and the art market as well as the role creativity plays in our lives and how outdated power structures and professional labels are a hindrance to unlocking creative potential Openly engaging with the contradictions and paradoxes that currently define the relationship between artists the education system and the art market the book proposes an eco cultural model that can allow artists to reconfigure their identities and in the process tilt the artworld's axis By turns a critical framework for examining what constitutes the term artist an alternative art historical account and a no holds barred guide to how the art world really works this boundary breaking book challenges existing practices methodologies and metrics of success calling for a fairer art world that is non elitist and multicultural It allows readers to critically position themselves in today's art world in a clear ethically grounded and responsible way
