Postliterary Attention Theory: Reading, Fragmentation, and Meaning in the Digital Age Shaikh Afnan Birahim, 2025-09-22

Postliterary Attention Theory: Reading Fragmentation and Meaning in the Digital Age explores how our ability to read deeply has eroded in an era dominated by feeds, fragments, and dopamine-driven design. Blending literary history, media theory, and cognitive science, Shaikh Afnan Birahim traces the journey from modernist experimentation to TikTok snippets, showing how attention itself has become a cultural battleground. This book is both diagnosis and manifesto, an invitation to reclaim slow reading as an act of resistance and rediscover the joy, intimacy, and meaning that only literature can provide. TikTok for Authors, Discover how to leverage the power of TikTok to reach new readers, build a community, and sell more books. This book is specifically tailored for non-fiction authors wanting to learn TikTok's unique language and trends to effectively promote their published works.

The Digital Future of English Simone Murray, 2025-07-18

More than any other academic discipline, literary studies is the creation of print culture. How then can it thrive in the digital era? Early 1990s predictions of the book's imminent demise presented a simplistic either/or choice between the legacy of moribund print and triumphalist digital technology. Yet we have grown to experience the two media as complexly interdependent and even complementary. Clearly, digital does not kill print. But literary studies in the digital era cannot simply resume business as usual. It is urgently necessary to reconsider the discipline's founding assumptions in light of digital technology. The digital era prompts a rethinking of literary studies' object of study as well as its methods, theories, audiences, and pedagogical practices. What counts as literature necessarily shifts in an age of proliferating born-digital texts and do-it-yourself/DIY online publication. Where should literary studies sit institutionally, and how might it graft contextually oriented social sciences methods onto its traditionally humanistic mode of textual analysis? Why should literary study continue to marginalize emotional responses to texts when online communities bond via readerly affect? Who is the audience for literary criticism in an age where expertise is routinely challenged yet communication with global book-loving publics has never been technologically easier? Finally, how can we utilize digital tools to rejuvenate literary studies pedagogy and help English staff better connect with millennial-age students? Literary studies has been convulsed for decades by debates over electronic literature and more recently digitally aided distant reading. But these discussions still mostly confine themselves to demarcating our proper object of study. We need to think more expansively about digital technology's impact on the underpinning tenets of the discipline. Literary Media Studies is pitched at fellow literary scholars, book historians, media theorists, cultural sociologists, digital humanists, and those working at the interface of these converging disciplines. It models constructive engagement with contemporary digital culture.

Most importantly it brings a burst of sorely needed optimism to the question of literary studies digital future The Routledge Companion to Children's Literature and Culture Claudia Nelson, Elisabeth Wesseling, Andrea Mei-Ying Wu, 2023-11-30 Focusing on significant and cutting edge preoccupations within children's literature scholarship The Routledge Companion to Children's Literature and Culture presents a comprehensive overview of print digital and electronic texts for children aged zero to thirteen as forms of world literature participating in a panoply of identity formations Offering five distinct sections this volume Familiarizes students and beginning scholars with key concepts and methodological resources guiding contemporary inquiry into children's literature Describes the major media formats and genres for texts expressly addressing children Considers the production distribution and valuing of children's books from an assortment of historical and contemporary perspectives highlighting context as a driver of content Maps how children's texts have historically presumed and prescribed certain identities on the part of their readers sometimes addressing readers who share some part of the author's identity sometimes seeking to educate the reader about a presumed other and in recent decades increasingly foregrounding identities once lacking visibility and voice Explores the historical evolutions and trans regional contacts and inter connections in the long process of the formation of global children's literature highlighting issues such as retranslation transnationalism transculturality and new digital formats for considering cultural crossings and renegotiations in the production of children's literature Methodically presented and contextualized this volume is an engaging introduction to this expanding and multifaceted field The Reading Lives of Teens Chin Ee Loh, 2024-11-04 In these changing times of global flows of media and technologies and reports of declining reading enjoyment researchers policymakers and educators need to engage anew with essential issues of what counts as reading what kinds of reading matter and how to support teen reading engagement in school and out of school settings Bringing together contributions from well known and emerging adolescent literacy researchers from different disciplinary perspectives this edited collection consolidates contemporary research on teens volitional print and digital reading whether in school or out of school contexts The first part of the book offers overviews of what teens are reading followed by chapters on community support on reading and new ways of researching teen reading With chapters from North America Europe Australia Asia and the Middle East the collection will offer multifaceted and complex insights into what how and why teens read in different contexts Reflection questions at the end of each chapter encourage readers to consider how the research can be applied in their own research policy and practice contexts This book will be of interest to researchers policymakers and educators who are invested in supporting adolescent engaged reading with evidence based policies and strategies Child as Citizen Giuliana Fenech, 2025-08-15 Contributions by Daniela Brockdorff Nina Christensen Jill Coste Katrin Dautel Justyna Deszcz Tryhubczak Giuliana Fenech Naomi Hamer Irena Barbara Kalla Anne Klomberg Sonali Kulkarni Elizabeth Leach Leung Ann Marie Murnaghan Emily Murphy Emilie Owens Nicola Parker Patrycja Poniatowska Meg Rosoff and Farriba Schulz Child as Citizen Agency and Activism in Children's Literature and Culture addresses children's and young adult agency and activism across literature and culture demonstrating how these forces influence child citizenship. Contributors to this volume highlight the agentic voices and activist practices that are growing across all spheres of young people's lives as well as the challenges to active citizenship that children growing up in unjust sociopolitical contexts face. The volume is interdisciplinary and draws on the sociology of childhood, children's literature studies, youth culture studies, media technology and cultural studies, and Anthropocene, ecofeminist, and disability studies. Agency occurs in and around literature and storytelling, and this collection establishes how it is always influenced by identity as well as geopolitics, how it is both subjective and collective, how it is cultural and embodied, and how like citizenship it is not a static status but rather an ongoing negotiation. In this collection, contributors invite readers to consider agency as a system of relations between children themselves, between children and adults, children and institutions, and children and nation states as well as between children and the nonhuman. This book reviews the interconnectedness between these relationships and attempts to untangle some of the complications that emerge.

The Global Author Economy

Azhar ul Haque Sario, 2025-10-31

The publishing world has changed forever, and this book is the map you need to navigate it. This book is your complete guide to the global author economy. It begins with the past. You will learn how self-publishing is not new but the original form of publishing. We trace its history from ancient scribes to the modern digital age. Then the book provides a massive global market analysis. We dive deep into 15 different countries. This includes the Anglosphere titans: the USA, UK, Canada, and Australia. We explore European powerhouses like Germany, France, and Sweden. We also unlock the BRICS frontier: Brazil, India, and South Africa. Finally, we look at unique markets like Japan, China, Mexico, the UAE, and Nigeria. For each country, you get a practical breakdown. This includes market trends, top local companies, and essential copyright laws. The guide also covers the cutting edge of the industry. You will learn how to use AI for marketing and research. We explore the audiobook boom, subscription models, and direct-to-reader sales. The book explains new business theories. You will learn to be an authorpreneur. You will understand how to build a global-local strategy. To finish, we look to the future, predicting the trends that will shape the industry from 2025 to 2035. What makes this book different from other publishing guides? Most books are too limited. They focus on just one platform like Amazon or one market like the US. This book provides a truly global strategic perspective. It gives you the Global-Local Nexus model, a unique framework for leveraging worldwide distribution platforms while applying targeted, localized marketing to build a real connection with readers in different countries. It isn't just a simple how-to manual. It is a comprehensive analysis that combines history, practical market data, emerging technology trends, and powerful business models. Other books may show you how to upload your file. This book teaches you how to think like a global CEO of your own writing business. It's the ultimate resource for building a resilient, diversified, and sustainable international writing career.
