Bodies, Remedies, Policies Romana Radlwimmer, 2025-10-20. Early Modern expansionism and its aftermaths constitute a biopolitical laboratory measuring social and individual well-being and decay and defining healthy bodies and adequate remedies through policies controlling disease. This anthology traces the power over life and death from 16th century Chronicles of the Indies to Covid 19 narratives asking how pathology and healing have been marked by the long shadows of colonialism and how bodies, remedies and policies intersect in contexts shaped by post-imperial structures. The contributors analyze anatomies and configurations of the flesh, the space bodies inhabit in the mapping of immune systems and the corporeal performances and discourses creating an infectious or robust biosphere. The authors revisit the preventive or reactive substances proposed or imagined for malady and recovery and the way mixtures are applied. How can body practices and treatments be strategies to create or disturb impermeability and safety? How do institutional decisions, governmental laws, aesthetic interventions or moral instructions regulate human thriving and suffering? Such questions rooted in Romance Literatures, Colonial Studies, Medical History and Biopolitics are addressed in this book.

Covid-19 Misinformation Flows Emmanuel K. Ngwainmbi, 2025-09-30. Covid 19 Misinformation Flows describes challenges in accessing, collecting, processing and disseminating information on pandemics with a focus on Covid 19 communication. An international team of authors addresses the role of disinformation and misinformation in managing the communication of epidemics: how social media platforms and mainstream media outlets in some countries and regions address pandemics in the context of the flow; learning and sharing of information on Covid 19. Looking at how traditional media and social media report pandemics, especially Covid 19, the volume addresses the effect of fake news on individuals and businesses and the impact of such communication on physical and mental health. This book will interest scholars and students of health communication, social media communication, journalism, political communication and media and communication in the Global South.

Every American an Innovator Matthew Wisnioski, 2025-05-13 A landmark cultural history that reveals how the relentless pursuit of innovation has transformed our society our institutions and our inner selves For half a century innovation served as a universal good in an age of fracture That consensus is cracking While the imperative to innovate for a better future continues to fuel systemic change around the world critics now assail innovation culture as an engine of inequality or accuse its do gooders of woke groupthink What happened Drawing on a decade of research Every American an Innovator by Matthew Wisnioski investigates how innovation a once obscure academic term became ingrained in our institutions our education and our beliefs about ourselves Wisnioski argues that innovation culture did not spring from the digital revolution nor can it be boiled down to heroic entrepreneurs or villainous capitalists Instead he reveals the central role of a new class of experts in spreading toolkits and mindsets from the cornfields of 1940s Iowa to Silicon Valley tech giants today This group of engineers philosophers bureaucrats and business leaders posited that innovators were society s most important change agents and remade the nation in their image The innovation culture they built transcended partisan divisions and made strange bedfellows Wisnioski shows how Kennedy era policymakers inspired President Nixon s dream of a Nobel Prize for innovators how anti military professors built the first university incubators for entrepreneurs how radical feminists became millionaire consultants how demands for a rust belt manufacturing renaissance inspired theories of a global creative class how programs that encouraged girls and minority children to pursue innovative lives changed the nature of childhood play and why the innovation consensus is now in dispute

Climate Change Challenge: Adaptation to Climate Change Giuseppe Carrus, Chiara Massullo, Lorenza Tiberio, Christoph Steinebach, Lina Fusaro, 2025-10-24 Climate change is globally recognized among the most crucial if not the most crucial emergencies that human societies and the entire planet are facing in current times Accordingly notable efforts are being made at the political scientific and public opinion levels to counter global environmental change and in particular to lower the pace of global warming through a significant reduction of carbon emissions at the global level In this scenario psychological science can contribute non only to understand how human societies can shift from more to less carbon intensive but also to better understand how individuals groups and communities may adapt to ongoing global environmental change in their daily lives The Adaptation to climate change Research Topic involves processes of both assimilation and accommodation In both it serves optimal development under more difficult conditions Adaptation to climate change requires empirical research on the psychological aspects interdisciplinary dialogue with other sciences as well as reflection on the changed self image of psychology as a science and a profession Processes of adaptation can be found e g in the shift of focus from individual and community to environment from concepts and theories to measurement from more general and macro factors to micro factors from general to diverse impact from urban and rural to environmental factors from bouncing back to growth from segmented to an integrative approach Specifically for the Adaptation to Climate Change research topic the Topic Editors welcome themes such as Adaptation of perception General and special conditions of environmental perception Reorientation of education Shaping the social and physical environment to promote positive development Strengthening the sense of responsibility Conditions for environmentally friendly behaviour Realignment of intervention Environment as a specific means of promoting mental health Reshaping the environment Designing the environment to meet sustainable living
