Modern Individuality In Hegels Practical Philosophy Critical Studies In German Idealism:

Modern Individuality in Hegel's Practical Philosophy Erzsébet Rózsa, 2012-10-19 Modern individuality is the not so secret protagonist of Hegel's practical philosophy. In the framework of spirit, Hegel presents some basic features of the individual's way of life, lifeworld, self-interpretation and self-determination, which can also be timely in shaping our own personal and social identities.

Hegel's Ontology of Power Arash Abazari, 2020-07-30 Recent attempts to revitalize Hegel's social and political philosophy have tended to be doubly constrained: firstly by their focus on Hegel's Philosophy of Right and secondly by their broadly liberal interpretive framework. Challenging that trend, Arash Abazari shows that the locus of Hegel's genuine critical social theory is to be sought in his ontology, specifically in the logic of essence of the Science of Logic. Mobilizing ideas from Marx and Adorno, Abazari unveils the hidden critical import of Hegel's logic. He argues that social domination in capitalism obtains by virtue of the illusion of equality and freedom, showing how relations of opposition underlie the seeming pluralism in capitalism and elaborates on the deepest ground of domination, i.e. the totality of capitalist social relations. Overall, his book demonstrates that Hegel's logic can and should be read politically.

Georg Lukács and the Possibility of Critical Social Ontology Michael J. Thompson, 2019-12-16 Georg Lukács was one of the most important intellectuals and philosophers of the 20th century. His last great work was a systematic social ontology that was an attempt to ground an ethical and critical form of Marxism. This work has only now begun to attract the interest of critical theorists and philosophers intent on reconstructing a critical theory of society as well as a more sophisticated framework for Marxian philosophy. This collection of essays explores the concept of critical social ontology as it was outlined by Georg Lukács and the ways that his ideas can help us construct a more grounded and socially relevant form of social critique. This work will of special interest to social, moral and political philosophers as well as those who study critical theory, social theory and Marxism. It is also of interest to those working within the area of social ontology. Contributors include Mario Duayer, Andreas Giesbert, Christoph Henning, Antonino Infancia, Reha Kadakal, Endre Kiss, Michael Morris, Michalis Skomvoulis, Matthew J. Hegel and Contemporary Practical Philosophy James Gledhill, Sebastian Stein, 2020-04-08 While Kantian constructivism has become one of the most influential and systematic schools of thought in analytic moral and political philosophy, Hegelian approaches to practical normativity hold out the promise of building upon Kantian insights into individual self-determination while avoiding their dualistic tendencies. James Gledhill and Sebastian Stein unite distinguished scholars of German idealism and contemporary Anglophone practical philosophy with rising stars in the field to explore whether Hegelian idealist philosophy can offer the categories that analytic practical philosophy requires to overcome the contradictions that have so far plagued Kantian constructivism. The volume organizes the contributions into three parts. The first of these engages debates in metaethics regarding the relationship between realism and constructivism The second part sees contributors draw on debates about the nature of political normativity focusing primarily on the problems of historical contextualism relativism and critical reflection The concluding part considers the application of the Hegelian framework to contemporary debates about specific ethical issues including multiculturalism democracy and human rights Hegel and Contemporary Practical Philosophy contributes to the on going debate about the importance of systematic philosophy in the context of practical philosophy engages with contemporary discussions about the shape of a rational social order and gauges the timeliness of Hegelian philosophy This book is a must read for scholars interested in Hegel and in the contemporary tradition of Kantian constructivism in moral and political philosophy A.L.A. Pippin, 2008 This fresh and original book argues that the central questions in Hegel's practical philosophy are the central questions in modern accounts of freedom What is freedom or what would it be to act freely Is it possible so to act And how important is leading a free life Robert Pippin argues that the core of Hegel's answers is a social theory of agency the view that agency is not exclusively a matter of the self relation and self determination of an individual but requires the right sort of engagement with and recognition by others Using a detailed analysis of key Hegelian texts he develops this interpretation to reveal the bearing of Hegel's claims on many contemporary issues including much discussed core problems in the liberal democratic tradition His important study will be valuable for all readers who are interested in Hegel's philosophy and in the modern problems of agency and freedom Catalogue of the College of California and College School University of California (System), 1922 The Philosopher's Index Richard H. Goldstein, 2005-12-29 In Hegel's Idea of the Good Life Joshua D Goldstein presents the first book length study of the development and meaning of Hegel's account of human flourishing This volume will be welcomed by philosophers and political theorists seeking to engage with the details of Hegel's early and mature social thought By bringing Hegel's earliest writings into dialogue with his Philosophy of Right Goldstein argues that Hegel's mature political philosophy should be understood as a response to his youthful failure to build a sustainable account of the good life upon the foundations of ancient virtue This study reveals how Hegel's mature response integrates ancient concerns for the well ordered life and modern concerns for autonomy in a new robust conception of selfhood that can be actualized across the full expanse of the modern political community Annual Announcement of Courses of Instruction University of California (1868-1952),1922
