FutureNatural George Robertson,1996 We are living in an age when nature seems to be on the brink of extinction yet at the same time nature is becoming increasingly ubiquitous and unstable as a category for representation and debate Futurenatural brings together leading theorists of culture and science to discuss the concept of nature its past present and future Contributors discuss the impact on our daily life of recent developments on biotechnologies electronic media and ecological politics Increasingly scientific theories and models have been taken up as cultural metaphors that have material effects in transforming ways of seeing and structures of feeling The book addresses the issue of whether political and cultural debates about the body and environment can take place without reference to nature or the natural This collection considers how we might think a future developing from emergent scientific theories and discourses What cultural forms may be produced when new knowledges challenge and undermine traditional ways of conceiving the natural An Introduction to Cybercultures David Bell,2006-09-07 An Introduction to Cybercultures provides an accessible guide to the major forms practices and meanings of this rapidly growing field From the evolution of hardware and software to the emergence of cyberpunk film and fiction David Bell introduces readers to the key aspects of cyberculture including email the internet digital imaging technologies computer games and digital special effects Each chapter contains hot links to key articles in its companion volume The Cybercultures Reader suggestions for further reading and details of relevant websites Individual chapters examine Cybercultures an introduction Storying cyberspace Cultural Studies in cyberspace Community and cyberculture Identities in cyberculture Bodies in cyberculture Cybersubcultures Researching cybercultures

Transhumanism David Livingstone,2015-09-02 Transhumanism is a recent movement that extols man s right to shape his own evolution by maximizing the use of scientific technologies to enhance human physical and intellectual potential While the name is new the idea has long been a popular theme of science fiction featured in such films as 2001 A Space Odyssey Blade Runner the Terminator series and more recently The Matrix Limitless Her and Transcendence However as its adherents hint at in their own publications transhumanism is an occult project rooted in Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry and derived from the Kabbalah which asserts that humanity is evolving intellectually towards a point in time when man will become God Modeled on the medieval legend of the Golem and Frankenstein they believe man will be able to create life itself in the form of living machines or artificial intelligence Spearheaded by the Cybernetics Group the project resulted in both the development of the modern computer and MK Ultra the CIA s mind control program MK Ultra promoted the mind expanding potential of psychedelic drugs to shape the counterculture of the 1960s based on the notion that the shamans of ancient times used psychoactive substances equated with the apple of the Tree of Knowledge And as revealed in the movie Lucy through the use of smart drugs and what transhumanists call mind uploading man will be able to merge with the Internet which is envisioned as the end point of Kabbalistic evolution the formation of a collective consciousness or Global Brain That awaited moment is what Ray Kurzweil a director of engineering at Google refers to as The Singularity By accumulating the total of human knowledge and providing access to every aspect of human activity the Internet will supposedly achieve omniscience becoming the God of occultism or the Masonic All Seeing Eye of the reverse side of the American dollar bill

Dade-Robertson,2011-06-02 This book looks at the relationship between information and its representation The organization of digital information has relied on metaphors from a pre digital era architectural ideas in particular from the urbanisation of cyberspace in science fiction through to the adoption of spatial visualizations in the design of graphical user interfaces This book encourages creative thinking around this subject and will be of interest to all studying design theory Reload Mary Flanagan,Austin Booth,2002-05-03 An anthology of feminist cyberfiction and theoretical and critical writings on gender and technoculture Most writing on cyberculture is dominated by two almost mutually exclusive visions the heroic image of the male outlaw hacker and the utopian myth of a gender free cyberworld Reload offers an alternative picture of cyberspace as a complex and contradictory place where there is oppression as well as liberation It shows how cyberpunk s revolutionary claims conceal its ultimate conservatism on matters of class gender and race The cyberfeminists writing here view cyberculture as a social experiment with an as yet unfulfilled potential to create new identities relationships and cultures The book brings together women s cyberfiction fiction that explores the relationship between people and virtual technologies and feminist theoretical and critical investigations of gender and technoculture From a variety of viewpoints the writers consider the effects of rapid and profound technological change on culture in particular both the revolutionary and reactionary effects of cyberculture on women s lives They also explore the feminist implications of the cyborg a human machine hybrid The writers challenge the conceptual and institutional rifts between high and low culture which are embedded in the texts and artifacts of cyberculture

Future Consciousness Thomas Lombardo, 2017-10-27 How do our unique conscious minds reflect and amplify nature's vast evolutionary process. This book provides a scientifically informed, psychologically holistic approach to understanding and enhancing our future consciousness, serving as a guide for creating a realistic, constructive, and ethical future. Thomas Lombardo reveals how we can flourish in the flow of evolution and create a prosperous future for ourselves, human society, and the planet.

A History of Media W. Lambert Gardiner, 2002. The conception day gift includes a means of storing information, memory, and of transmitting information, speech. Memory, speech, could thus be considered as a first generation of media. However, natural selection can explain our evolution only to a hunter-gatherer society. How have we managed the transitions over historical time to an agricultural, an industrial, and now an information society? We have learned how to extend our nervous systems by storing information. Print, film, second generation, by transmitting information. Telephone, television, third generation, and by both storing and transmitting information outside our bodies. Multimedia, Internet, fourth generation. A History of Media tells this story of the co-evolution of the person and media as extensions. This long perspective will help us better understand our turbulent transitional times as we assimilate the fourth generation of media. This third transition will be clarified by analogy with the first and second transitions as we assimilated the second and third generations of media. The work of Harold Innis, Marshall McLuhan, and their successors in the Toronto School of Media Studies will help illuminate those transitions.
