 North, Calla Smorodin, 1971-09-24 This book presents a model for examining problems of institutional change and applies it to American economic development in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The authors develop their model of institutional change They argue that if external economic factors make an increase in income possible but not attainable within the existing institutional structure new organizations must be developed to achieve the potential in income Their model is designed to explain the type and timing of these necessary changes in institutional organization Individual voluntary cooperative and governmental arrangements are included in the discussion although the latter differs considerably from the first two Special Study on Economic Change: Stagflation : the causes, effects, and solutions, 1980 Tax Incentives for Savings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means, 1980 The Economic and
