

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS AND WORK-STUDY PROGRAMS

Scholarships:

Scholarships are financial awards that do not have to be repaid and are awarded based on a variety of criteria, such as academic merit, athletic ability, artistic talent, or community service. They can be a great way to help pay for college, as they provide free money that can be used to cover tuition, fees, books, and other expenses.

- Academic scholarships: These are awarded based on a student's academic achievements, such as high grades, test scores, or participation in honors programs.
- Athletic scholarships: These are awarded to students who excel in a particular sport and are typically offered by colleges and universities.
- Artistic scholarships: These are awarded to students who show exceptional talent in the arts, such as music, dance, theater, or visual arts.
- Community service scholarships: These are awarded to students who have demonstrated a commitment to serving their communities through volunteer work or other means.
- Minority scholarships: These are awarded to students who belong to minority groups, such as African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans, and women.
- Departmental scholarships: These are awarded by specific departments within a college or university and are based on the student's major or area of study.
- Company-sponsored scholarships: These are awarded by businesses and organizations and are often based on the student's career goals or area of study.
