Mergers in Higher Education

The Experience from Northern Europe

This book addresses the state-of-the-art of research on mergers involving higher education institutions. It is based on a comprehensive research project spanning four spring visits investigating the phenomena of mergers involving higher education institutions across the Nordic countries – Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark. The study involved three to six scholars from the regions and aimed at shedding critical light on, and providing novel contributions around, the following key aspects:

- Conceptual and theoretical approaches – strengths and weaknesses – towards the study of the phenomenon of mergers in higher education;
- Historical developments leading to significant structural changes in the Northern higher education landscape; and, in turn, how mergers have been used as a policy-instrumental mechanism for better adaptation to a more turbulent environment in the local, national, regional and international levels;
- The complex process involved in merger processes by understanding an in-depth investigation of a series of selected case studies, with a particular focus on the “black box” associated with the implementation process;
- The implications of the findings on public service policy and strategic institutions, future developments and future research agenda.

Mergers in Higher Education Leon Cremonini, Saeed Paivandi, K.M. Joshi, 2019-05-23 The merger is broadly understood as a fusion of two or more units into one The merger in higher education has received much attention by policy makers as well as individual institutions in many countries as a means to bring higher education reforms The merger of higher education institutions is a visible phenomenon in the recent past but each merger provides a distinctive instance of major strategic change Besides this each merger also shows a distinct set of circumstances actors and characteristics The aims of the mergers have been varied across the nations that include a reduction in fragmentation of institutions economies of scale enhanced efficiency enhanced quality etc Along with disapproval a great amount of literature surrounding the benefits of the merger has emerged over the period of time In spite of ample literature on mergers of higher education institutions there does not appear to be a clear set of financial efficiency or quality parameters to assess the success The majority of the discussions have been narratives In the available literature the mergers have been classified based on their participants stakeholders nature the strategy that drives them their motivation and or the resultant degree of absorption This book discusses the merger experiences and case study of different countries in terms of policies and practices Each country chapter in the above context narrates that in planning the mergers what have been the philosophical economic political legal and cultural implications How the factors such as institutional history geographical distance provincial tradition state regulations the presence of collective bargaining and pertinent financial matters shaped the process as well as the outcome of the mergers The idea of merger and its implementation including process at both government and institutional level have been discussed The outcome assessment also forms the part of the discussion

Arts and Cultural Education in a Challenging and Changing World Tanja Klepacki,Edwin van Meerkerk,Tone Pernille Østern,2025-04-26 This book is motivated by questions of how arts and cultural education like all other fields are affected by and together with other fields can contribute to glocal developments challenges and shifts However difficult the times arts and culture in educational contexts have the ambition to make a positive contribution and foster creativity empathy and inclusion to encourage critical change innovation and peace But if arts and cultural education remains traditional unchallenged and exclusive those ambitions for critical change towards more inclusive practices that dare to act and make a change in the world run the risk of remaining utopian rhetoric It is time for a critical self examination and willingness to change powers and privileges also within arts and cultural education Against this background this book
