The School-to-Prison Pipeline Nancy A. Heitzeg, 2016-04-11 This book offers a research and comparison driven look at the school to prison pipeline its racial dynamics the connections to mass incarceration and our flawed educational climate and suggests practical remedies for change How is racism perpetuated by the education system particularly via the school to prison pipeline How is the school to prison pipeline intrinsically connected to the larger context of the prison industrial complex as well as the extensive and ongoing criminalization of youth of color This book uniquely describes the system of policies and practices that racialize criminalization by routing youth of color out of school and towards prison via the school to prison pipeline while simultaneously medicalizing white youth for comparable behaviors This work is the first to consider and link all of the research and data from a sociological perspective using this information to locate racism in our educational systems describe the rise of the so called prison industrial complex spotlight the concomitant expansion of the medical industrial complex as an alternative for controlling the white and well off both adult and juveniles and explore the significance of media in furthering the white racial frame that typically views people of color as criminals as an automatic response The author also examines the racial dynamics of the school to prison pipeline as documented by rates of suspension expulsion and referrals to legal systems and sheds light on the comparative dynamics of the related educational social control of white and middle class youth in the larger context of society as a whole

Rethinking Punishment in the Era of Mass Incarceration Chris Surprenant, 2017-07-06 One of the most important problems faced by the United States is addressing its broken criminal justice system This collection of essays offers a thorough examination of incarceration as a form of punishment In addition to focusing on the philosophical aspects related to punishment the volume s diverse group of contributors provides additional background in criminology economics law and sociology to help contextualize the philosophical issues The first group of essays addresses whether or not our current institutions connected with punishment and incarceration are justified in a liberal society The next set of chapters explores the negative effects of incarceration as a form of punishment including its impact on children and families The volume then describes how we arrived at our current situation in the United States focusing on questions related to how we view prisons and prisoners policing for profit and the motivations of prosecutors in trying to secure convictions Finally Rethinking Punishment in the Era of Mass Incarceration examines specific policy alternatives that might offer solutions to our current approach to punishment and incarceration
