Anzac's Long Shadow James Brown, 2014-02-15 A century ago we got it wrong We sent thousands of young Australians on a military operation that was barely more than a disaster It s right that a hundred years later we should feel strongly about that But have we got our remembrance right What lessons haven t we learned about war and what might be the cost of our Anzac obsession Defence analyst and former army officer James Brown believes that Australia is expending too much time money and emotion on the Anzac legend and that today s soldiers are suffering for it Vividly evoking the war in Afghanistan Brown reveals the experience of the modern soldier He looks closely at the companies and clubs that trade on the Anzac story He shows that Australians spend a lot more time looking after dead warriors than those who are alive We focus on a cult of remembrance instead of understanding a new world of soldiering and strategy And we make it impossible to criticise the Australian Defence Force even when it makes the same mistakes over and over None of this is good for our soldiers or our ability to deal with a changing world With respect and passion Brown shines a new light on Anzac s long shadow and calls for change Bold original challenging James Brown tackles the burgeoning Anzac industry and asks Australians to re examine how we think about the military and modern day service Leigh Sales The best book yet written not just on Australia s Afghan war but on war itself and the creator destroyer myth of Anzac John Birmingham James Brown is a former Australian Army officer who commanded a cavalry troop in Southern Iraq served on the Australian taskforce headquarters in Baghdad and was attached to Special Forces in Afghanistan Today he is the Military Fellow at the Lowy Institute for International Policy where he works on strategic military issues and defence policy He also chairs the NSW Government s Contemporary Veterans Forum He lives in Sydney

Cultural Science John Hartley, Jason Potts, 2014-09-25 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com Cultural Science introduces a new way of thinking about culture Adopting an evolutionary and systems approach the authors argue that culture is the population wide source of newness and innovation it faces the future not the past Its chief characteristic is the formation of groups or demes organised and productive subpopulation demes Demes are the means for creating distributing and growing knowledge However such groups are competitive and knowledge systems are adversarial Starting from a rereading of Darwinian evolutionary theory the book utilises multidisciplinary resources Raymond Williams s culture is ordinary approach evolutionary science e g Mark Pagel and Herbert Gintis semiotics Yuri Lotman and economic theory from Schumpeter to McCloskey Successive chapters argue that Culture and knowledge need to be understood from an externalist linked brains perspective rather than through the lens of individual behaviour Demes are created by culture especially storytelling which in turn constitutes both politics and economics The clash of systems including demes is productive of newness meaningfulness and successful reproduction of culture Contemporary urban culture and citizenship can best be explained by investigating how culture is used and how newness and innovation emerge from unstable and contested boundaries between different meaning systems The evolution of culture is a process of technologically enabled demic concentration of knowledge across overlapping meaning systems or semiospheres a process where the number of demes accessible to any individual has increased at an accelerating rate resulting in new problems of scale and coordination for cultural science to address The book argues for interdisciplinary consilience linking evolutionary and complexity theory in the natural sciences economics and anthropology in the social sciences and cultural communication and media studies in the humanities and creative arts It describes what is needed for a new modern synthesis for the cultural sciences It combines analytical and historical methods to provide a framework for a general reconceptualisation of the theory of culture one that is focused not on its political or customary aspects but rather its evolutionary significance as a generator of newness and innovation

Technological Determinism and Social Change Jan Servaes, 2014-12-18 The aim of this book is to shed new light on this theoretically and practically significant issue and questions the role of technology and culture in social change It challenges us to reconsider and rethink the impact of new information and communication technologies on civil society participatory democracy and digital citizenship in theoretical and methodological contributions through the analysis of specific cases in Australia Bangladesh Belgium China Colombia Kenya Netherlands and the United States Access to information and communication technologies is a necessity and the importance of access should not be trivialized but a plea for digital literacy implies recognizing that access is the beginning of ICT policies and not the end of it Digital literacy requires using the Internet and social media in socially and culturally useful ways aimed at the inclusion of everybody in the emerging information knowledge society Technology matters but people matter more

National Myth and the First World War in Modern Popular Music Peter Grant, 2016-12-09 This book looks at the role of popular music in constructing the myth of the First World War Since the late 1950s over 1 500 popular songs from more than forty countries have been recorded that draw inspiration from the War National Myth and the First World War in Modern Popular Music takes an interdisciplinary approach that locates popular music within the framework of memory studies and analyses how songwriters are influenced by their country's national myths How does popular music help form memory and remembrance of such an event Why do some songwriters stick rigidly to culturally dominant forms of memory whereas others seek an oppositional or transnational perspective The huge range of musical examples include the great chansonniers Jacques Brel and Georges Brassens folk maestros including Al Stewart and Eric Bogle the socially aware rock of The Kinks and Pink Floyd metal legends Iron Maiden and Bolt Thrower and female iconoclasts Diamanda Galás and PJ Harvey
