Curatorial Practices for Botanical Gardens Timothy C. Hohn, 2022-02-15 This breakthrough handbook for botanical garden and arboretum curators and curators in training has now been expanded and updated fifteen years after the last edition was published. The new edition includes up to date information and methods for the preservation and conservation of plants and their use in both ex situ and in situ conservation programs, habitat restorations and conservation research. There are expanded and updated sections on plant acquisitions and field collecting that conform to the Convention on Biological Diversity protocols. New technologies for documenting plant collections are described, including reviews of the most common software programs to streamline this process. Recommendations for plant preservation, caring for collections, have been updated with expanded information on basic horticulture practice, sustainable techniques, special applications for conservation collections, and examples of preservation plans. There is an entirely new section on collections research and applications with several chapters on the latest conservation practices, technologies, and programs involving collections. All of the basic and essential information for collections management contained within the first edition, including specific recommendations and examples, has been expanded and updated with recommendations on new technologies and procedures to assist and guide curators in their critical role as plant collection developers, managers, and programmers. What is an important resource for public garden professionals and students has now become even more essential. Indus River

Basin Sadiq I. Khan, Thomas E. Adams, 2019-01-12 Indus River Basin Water Security and Sustainability provides a comprehensive treatment of water related issues within the Indus River basin. Each chapter is written by an expert in the field, hence this book serves as a single holistic source covering the whole region, not just a single country. Many of the challenges faced by this region are trans boundary issues, especially within the context of climate change and water scarcity. Topics covered include extreme engineering and water resource management, one of the largest irrigation systems in dry to semi desert conditions, social sciences, population dynamics linked to water resources, and political sciences. As such, this book is relevant and important to all researchers interested in these issues. Includes detailed chapters provided by specialists in each different field, as compiled by well experienced editors. Presents work from related fields across the Indus basin and makes them easily accessible on one single place. Shows the Indus River as a type case and shares issues relevant to other locations across the world. The Hindu Kush Himalaya Assessment Philippus Wester, Arabinda Mishra, Aditi
