Native American Communities on Health and Disability L. Lovern, C. Locust, 2013-03-27 This volume examines concepts of disability and wellness in Native American communities prominently featuring the life's work of Dr Carol Locust. Authors Locust and Lovern confront the difficulties of translating not only words but also entire concepts between Western and Indigenous cultures and by increasing the cultural competency of those unfamiliar with Native American ways of being are able to bring readers from both cultures into a more equal dialogue. The three sections contained herein focus on intercultural translation dialogues with Native American community members and finally a discussion of being in the world gently as caregivers.

The Routledge Companion to Literature and Disability Alice Hall, 2020-04-28 The Routledge Companion to Literature and Disability brings together some of the most influential and important contemporary perspectives in this growing field. The book traces the history of the field and locates literary disability studies in the wider context of activism and theory. It introduces debates about definitions of disability and explores intersectional approaches in which disability is understood in relation to gender, race, class, sexuality, nationality and ethnicity. Divided broadly into sections according to literary genre, this is an important resource for those interested in exploring and deepening their knowledge of the field of literature and disability studies.

Qualitative Inquiry and Research Design John W. Creswell, Cheryl N. Poth, 2024-02-20 The ideal introduction to qualitative research's theories, strategies and practices. Packed with updated content and examples, this Fifth Edition guides readers to select the best qualitative approach for their studies.

Crosscultural Perspectives on Mind and Brain, 2025-06-27 Crosscultural Perspectives on Mind and Brain Volume Eight probes crosscultural perspectives on the brain and mind. Chapters span understandings, knowledge sharing, Two Eyed Seeing, storytelling, caregiving, capacity building, respecting, reflecting, communicating and regulating. Specific chapters in this new release include The Challenges of Reductionist Ways, Indigenous epistemologies, Two Eyed Seeing and the philosophy practice and applications of brain sciences, Knowing our ways of knowing a reflection on Western science in relation to Indigenous epistemologies, Integrating the Two Eyed Approach in neuroethics, Bridging the determinism, reductionism, universalism triangle with diversity and inclusivity and more. Other sections cover Storying as the context for increasing accessibility of neuroscience for indigenous diaspora Moving with the Drum Beat of the Community Reflections on a decolonial and cross cultural Neuroethics community engagement Imbizo in Africa Older adults as a care resource for brain health Perspectives from India and Africa and much more Crosscultural perspectives on mind and brain Diversity and capacity building in neuroscience Holism joined with reductionism Critical Terms for Religious Studies, Second Edition Sarah Hammerschlag, 2025-05-21 A new edition of a classic resource composed of twenty three essays written specifically for this volume First published nearly thirty years ago Critical Terms for Religious Studies proved a vital resource for an emerging interdisciplinary conversation We still use much of the same language in the study of religion but fresh concerns have both changed the meaning of terms and given rise to new terms altogether This edition consists of twenty three entirely new essays that offer students and scholars alike the tools to historicize and evaluate the shifting role of familiar and emerging critical terms in religious studies These are critical terms both because they are important in our cultural moment and because thinking through them reveals how religions are embedded in and shaped by material social economic and political forces A shared conviction unites contributors from a range of traditions and methodologies a recognition that our world is saturated by the persistence of religious traditions as shape shifting not static or transcendent forces of authority as powerful today as ever before A Critical Pedagogy for Native American Education Policy Lavonna L. Lovern, F.E. Knowles, 2015-10-14 A Critical Pedagogy for Native American Education Policy is an application of critical pedagogical theory to historical and recent Native American educational policy Focusing primarily on the Mvskoke Creek the authors provide a detailed historic timeline that is tied to the functionalist view of sociology as it is reflected in the institution of education in general Knowles and Lovern examine the policy from the critical perspective with the application of Habermas and Freire They argue that the functionalist mode of education has furthered the cause of colonization and its attendant cultural destruction The emancipatory possibilities presented by the work of Habermas and Freire are mined for their application to the deficits created by the historical and continued colonization of Native Americans

Blindness and Spectatorship in Ancient and Modern Theatres Marchella Ward, 2023-12-14 The use of disability as a metaphor is ubiquitous in popular culture nowhere more so than in the myths stereotypes and tropes around blindness To be blind has never referred solely to the inability to see Instead blindness has been used as shorthand for among other things a lack of understanding immorality closeness to death special insight or second sight Although these meanings attached to blindness were established as early as antiquity readers receivers and spectators into the present have been implicated in the stereotypes which persist because audiences can be relied on to perpetuate them This book argues for a new way of seeing and of understanding classical reception by offering assemblage thinking as an alternative to the presumed passivity of classical influence And the theatre which has been incorrectly assumed to be principally a visual medium is the ideal space in which to investigate new ways of seeing
