Papi, H. G. Wallraff, 2012-12-06 Right from the start of this century field observations and the patient ringing of birds have made available a growing mass of data on the breeding and resting areas of migratory species and on the course period and duration of their seasonal flights Considered as a whole this work on migration morphology commands admiration and when viewed in detail it reveals fascinating insights into the extraordinary navigational performances of many bird species which find their way over enormous distances Yet only a few dozen physiologists are actively trying to answer the question of how these performances are achieved Experimental work on migratory birds raises many difficulties some of them insuperable so that many researchers carry out their experiments on the homing pigeon which is constantly motivated by homesickness and ready to display its ability to fly away home Many of the problems connected with bird navigation are still unsolved but a rapidly growing body of results is being produced along with a variety of new ideas and approaches A clear majority of the students of bird navigation met in September 1981 in Tirrenia a seaside resort on the Tyrrhenian coast where each of them offered new insights into his or her recent investigations Their contributions have been connected in this volume which provides an up to date conspectus of the stage reached by research in this field Bunker Blitz Vanessa C.
