Shaping the Future of Power Lina Benabdallah, 2020-07-20 China's rise to power is one of the biggest questions in International Relations theory IRT and foreign policy circles. Although power has been a core concept of IRT for a long time, the faces and mechanisms of power as it relates to Chinese foreign policymaking have changed the contours of that debate. The rise of China and other powers across the global political arena sparks a new visibility for different kinds of encounters between states, particularly between China and other Global South states. These encounters are more visible to IR scholars because of the increasing influence that rising powers have in the international system. This book shows that foreign policy encounters between rising powers and Global South states do not necessarily exhibit the same logics, behaviors, or investment strategies of Euro-American hegemony. Instead, they have distinctive features that require new theoretical frameworks for analysis. Shaping the Future of Power probes the types of power mechanisms that build, diffuse, and project China's power in Africa. One must take into account the processes of knowledge production, social capital formation, and skills transfers that Chinese foreign policy directs toward African states to fully understand China's power-building mechanisms. The relational power framework requires these elements to capture both the material aspects and ideational, people-centered aspects to power. By examining China's investments in human resource development programs for Africa, the book reveals a vital yet undertheorized aspect of China's foreign policy making.

Maritime Security in the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific Howard M. Hensel, Amit Gupta, 2017-11-28 Scholars and policy makers have traditionally viewed portions of the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific as separate and discrete political, economic, and military regions. In recent years, however, a variety of economic, political, and military forces have made many within the academic community, as well as a growing number of national governmental leaders, change their perceptions and recognize that these maritime expanses are one zone of global interaction. Consequently political military and economic developments in one maritime region increasingly have an impact elsewhere. Analyzing and assessing the contemporary maritime challenges in the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific, this valuable study highlights the current prospects for peace and security in what is rapidly becoming recognized as an integrated and interactive political military strategic and economic environment. This work will be of interest to researchers and policy makers involved in regional studies as well as security studies, conflict resolution, military and peace studies. Federal Register, 2014. Routledge Handbook of Counterterrorism and Counterinsurgency in Africa. Usman A. Tar, 2021-01-28. This book illustrates how Africa's defence and security domains have been radically altered by drastic changes in world politics and local ramifications. First, the contributions of numerous authors highlight the transnational dimensions of counterterrorism and counterinsurgency in Africa and reveal the roles played by African states and regional organisations in the global war on terror. Second, the volume critically evaluates the emerging regional architectures of countering terrorism, insurgency and organised violence on the continent through the African Union Counterterrorism Framework (AU CTF) and Regional Security Complexes (RSC). Third, the book sheds light on the counterterrorism and counterinsurgency (CT COIN) structures and mechanisms established by specific African states to contain, degrade and eliminate terrorism, insurgency and organised violence on the continent, particularly the successes, constraints and challenges of the emerging CT COIN mechanisms. Finally, the volume highlights the entry of non-state actors such as civil society, volunteer groups, private security companies and defence contractors into the theatre of counterterrorism and counterinsurgency in Africa through volunteerism, community support for state-led CT COIN Operations and civil-military cooperation (CIMIC). This book will be of use to students and scholars of security studies, African studies, international relations and terrorism studies, and to practitioners of development, defence, security and strategy.

Seaforth World Naval Review 2015. Conrad Waters, 2014-11-05. Now in its seventh year, this annual has established an international reputation as an authoritative but affordable summary of all that has happened in the naval world in the previous twelve months. It combines regional surveys with one-off major articles on noteworthy new ships and other important developments. Besides the latest warship projects, it also looks at wider issues of importance to navies such as aviation and electronics and calls on expertise from around the globe to give a balanced picture of what is going on and to interpret its significance. The 2015 edition looks in detail at the French Navy and the Bangladesh and Myanmar navies, while significant ships include the Montford Point class mobile landing platforms, the Samuel Becket offshore patrol vessels and the Skjold class fast attack craft. There are technological reviews dealing with naval aviation by David Hobbs and current mine warfare developments by Norman Friedman, while warship recycling is discussed by Ian Buxton. Intended to make interesting reading as well as providing authoritative reference, there is a strong visual emphasis including specially commissioned drawings and the most up-to-date photographs and artists' impressions.
