Nebraska Symposium On Motivation 1992 Volume 40 Developmental Perspectives On Motivation V 4:

Developmental Perspectives on Motivation Janis E. Jacobs, 1993 Some of the best current work on the development of motivation is presented in this fortieth volume of the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation The diverse approaches for conceptualizing and studying motivational development psychology that extends the traditional area of achievement motivation Some major themes emerge the conceptualization of the self the internal and external factors that affect development of motivations and the choices that result from one's motivations Richard Ryan's opening chapter places the entire work in context by describing historical and theoretical perspectives on developmental and psychosocial models used to understand motivation Mihaly Csikszentmihaly and Kevin Rathunde also focus on intrinsic motivation but with a greater focus on flow the experience of full involvement with an activity Susan Harter discusses the roles of the I self and the me self research models Jacquelynne S Eccles stresses the link between the social contexts of family and school and the motivational constructs related to achievement and choice of activity Laura L Carstensen maintains Eccles's focus on the importance of choice of activity but concentrates on the later stages in life when social contact declines as a result of changing social and emotional motivations The volume concludes with a summary analyzing the contributors' descriptions of the diverse but complementary aspects of developmental processes and theory

Motivation and Child Maltreatment

David J. Hansen, 2000 In this volume the concept of motivation is used to shed light on a range of complex issues surrounding the maltreatment of children Cathy Spatz Widom investigates the role of motivation in the intergenerational transmission of violence where victimized children themselves become perpetrators of violence as adults Joel S Milner looks at the way abusive parents process social information related to children The biological psychological and social contextual regulatory processes in maltreated children are considered by Dante Cicchetti and Sheree L Toth Deborah Daro discusses the current status of efforts to eliminate maltreatment of children and offers an alternative model for approaching the concept and practice of prevention John R Lutzker addresses the challenges of and procedures for applied research on the treatment of abusive parents In his concluding essay Ross A Thompson highlights the important themes focusing on child maltreatment that underlie this volume David J Hansen is a professor of psychology and director of the Clinical Psychology Training Program at the University of Nebraska

Advances in Flow Research

Corinna Peifer, Stefan Engeser, 2021-01-21 This second edition provides a review of the current flow research The first thoroughly revised and extended part of the book addresses basic concepts correlates conditions and consequences of flow experience This includes the developments of the flow model methods to measure flow its physiological correlates personality factors involved in the emergence of flow social flow the relationship of flow with performance and wellbeing but also possible negative consequences of flow The second completely new part of the book addresses flow in diverse contexts in particular work development sports music and arts and human computer interaction As such the book provides a broad overview on the current state of flow research from the basics to specific contexts of application It presents what has been learned since the beginning of flow research what is still open and how the mission to understand and foster flow should continue The book addresses researchers and students who are interested in flow as well as practitioners who seek for sound research on flow in their field of expertise Handbook of Theories of Aging, Second Edition Merrill Silverstein PhD, Vern L. Bengtson PhD, Norella Putney PhD, Daphna Gans PhD, 2008-10-27 The field of gerontology has often been criticized for being data rich but theory poor The editors of this book address this issue by stressing the importance of theory in gerontology While the previous edition focused on multidisciplinary approaches to aging theory this new edition provides cross disciplinary integrative explanations of aging theory The contributors of this text have reached beyond traditional disciplinary boundaries to partner with researchers in adjacent fields in studying aging and age related phenomena This edition of the Handbook consists of 39 chapters written by 67 internationally recognized experts in the field of aging It is organized in seven sections reflecting the major theoretical developments in gerontology over the past 10 years Special Features Comprehensive coverage of aging theory focusing on the biological psychological and social aspects of aging A section dedicated to discussing how aging theory informs public policy A concluding chapter summarizing the major themes of aging and offering predictions about the future of theory development Required reading for graduate students and post doctoral fellows this textbook represents the current status of theoretical development in the study of aging The Oxford Handbook of Happiness Susan A. David, Ilona Boniwell, Amanda Conley Ayers, 2014 A text for researchers and practitioners interested in human happiness Its editors and chapter contributors are world leaders in the investigation of happiness across the fields of psychology education philosophy social policy and economics Home Equity and Ageing Owners Lorna Fox O'Mahony, 2012-01-06 The growing use of housing equity to support a range of activities and needs raises complex issues particularly for older owners In an environment in which older owners are pushed towards housing equity transactions to meet income and welfare costs they are required to make choices from a complex and sometimes bewildering range of options The transactions which facilitate the use of home equity as a resource to spend in later life from trading down and ordinary secured and unsecured debt to targeted products including reverse lifetime mortgages home reversion plans and sale and rentback agreements raise important legal and regulatory issues This book provides a contextual analysis of the financial transactions that older people enter into using their housing equity It traces the protections afforded to older owners through the ordinary law of property and contract as well as the development of specific regulatory protections focused on targeted products The book employs the notion of risk to highlight the nature and causes of the situational vulnerabilities to which older people are now subject as consumers of housing equity showing that the older owner's personal situation is crucial in determining whether and why they may seek to release equity the options and products available to them and the impact of harms resulting from adverse transactions The book critically evaluates the extent to which this context is incorporated in the legal frameworks through which these transactions are governed as a measure of the appropriateness of existing legal provision as well as considering the arguments surrounding special protection for older owners in housing equity transactions
