American Indians at Risk Jeffrey Ian Ross Ph.D., 2013-10-28 This essential reference work enables a deeper understanding of contemporary challenges in the lives of American Indians and Alaskan Natives today carefully reviewing their unique problems and proposing potential solutions American Indians face problems in their lives on a daily basis that most other Americans never contend with and their challenges which in some cases are similar to those of other minority groups in the United States are still qualitatively unique American Indians at Risk gives readers a broad overview of what life in Indian country is like addressing specific contemporary social issues such as alcoholism unemployment and suicide The author goes beyond detailed descriptions of the problems of American Indians to also present solutions some of which have been effective in addressing these challenges Each chapter includes a Further Investigations section that presents helpful ideas for additional research

A Companion to Custer and the Little Bighorn Campaign Brad D. Lookingbill, 2015-11-23 An accessible and authoritative overview of the scholarship that has shaped our understanding of one of the most iconic battles in the history of the American West Combines contributions from an array of respected scholars historians and battlefield scientists Outlines the political and cultural conditions that laid the foundation for the Centennial Campaign and examines how George Armstrong Custer became its figurehead Provides a detailed analysis of the battle maneuverings at Little Bighorn paying special attention to Indian testimony from the battlefield Concludes with a section examining how the Battle of Little Bighorn has been mythologized and its pervading influence on American culture

Reproductive Justice Barbara Gurr, 2014-12-09 In Reproductive Justice sociologist Barbara Gurr provides the first analysis of Native American women s reproductive healthcare and offers a sustained consideration of the movement for reproductive justice in the United States The book examines the reproductive healthcare experiences on Pine Ridge Reservation home of the Oglala Lakota Nation in South Dakota where Gurr herself lived for more than a year Gurr paints an insightful portrait of the Indian Health Service IHS the federal agency tasked with providing culturally appropriate adequate healthcare to Native Americans shedding much needed light on Native American women s efforts to obtain prenatal care access to contraception abortion services and access to care after sexual assault Reproductive Justice goes beyond this local story to look more broadly at how race gender sex sexuality class and nation inform the ways in which the government understands reproductive healthcare and organizes the delivery of this care It reveals why the basic experience of reproductive healthcare for most Americans is so different and better than for Native American women in general and women in reservation communities particularly Finally Gurr outlines the strengths that these communities can bring to the creation of their own reproductive justice and considers the role of IHS in fostering these strengths as it moves forward in partnership with Native nations Reproductive Justice offers a respectful and informed analysis of the stories Native American women have to tell about their bodies their lives and their communities

Indigenous Health and Justice Karen Jarratt-Snider, Marianne O. Nielsen, 2024-06-04 Indigenous communities are practicing de facto sovereignty to resolve public health issues that are a consequence of settler colonialism This work delves into health and justice through a range of topics and examples and demonstrates the resilience of Indigenous communities

Indigenous Invisibility in the City Deirdre Howard-Wagner, 2020-11-17 Indigenous Invisibility in the City contextualises the significant social change in Indigenous life circumstances and resurgence that came out of social movements in cities It is about Indigenous resurgence and community development by First Nations people for First Nations people in cities Seventy five years ago First Nations peoples began a significant post war period of relocation to cities in the United States Canada Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand First Nations peoples engaged in projects of resurgence and community development in the cities of the four settler states First Nations peoples who were motivated by aspirations for autonomy and empowerment went on to create the foundations of Indigenous social infrastructure This book explains the ways First Nations people in cities created and took control of their own futures A fact largely wilfully ignored in policy contexts Today differences exist over the way governments and First Nations peoples see the role and responsibilities of Indigenous institutions in cities What remains hidden in plain sight is their societal function as a social and political apparatus through which much of the social processes of Indigenous resurgence and community development in cities occurred The struggle for self determination in settler cities plays out through First Nations people s efforts to sustain their own institutions and resurgence but also rights and recognition in cities This book will be of interest to Indigenous studies scholars urban sociologists urban political scientists urban studies scholars and development studies scholars interested in urban issues and community building and development This book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the

Goodlands Frances W. Kaye, 2011 Amer European settlement of the Great Plains transformed bountiful Native soil into pasture and cropland distorting the prairie ecosystem that the peoples who originally populated the land had long understood and were able to use wisely Settlers justified this transformation with the unexamined premise of deficiency according to which the vast area of the Great Plains was inadequate in flora and fauna and lacking in the advances of modern civilization Drawing on history literature art and economic theory Frances W Kaye counters the argument of deficiency pointing out that in its original ecological state no region can possibly be incomplete Goodlands examines the settlers misguided theory discussing the ideas that shaped its implementation the forces that resisted it and Indigenous ideologies about what it meant to make good use of the land By suggesting methods for redeveloping the Great Plains that are based on native cultural values Kaye points the way to a balanced and sustainable future for the region in the context of a changing globe Frances W Kaye is professor of English at the University of Nebraska She is the author of Hiding the Audience Arts and Arts Institutions on the Prairies Kaye divides her time between a farmstead outside Lincoln Nebraska and a house in Calgary so that she may always be close to the prairie land that drives her research

Journey to Freedom Kent Blansett, 2018-09-25 The first book length biography of Richard Oakes a Red Power activist of the 1960s who was a leader in the Alcatraz takeover and the Red Power Indigenous rights movement A revealing portrait of Richard Oakes the brilliant charismatic Native American leader who was instrumental in the takeovers of Alcatraz Fort Lawton and Pit River and whose assassination in 1972 galvanized the Trail of Broken Treaties march on Washington DC The life of this pivotal Akwesasne Mohawk activist is explored in an important new biography based on extensive archival research and key interviews with activists and family members Historian Kent Blansett offers a transformative and new perspective on the Red Power movement of the turbulent 1960s and the dynamic figure who helped to organize and champion it telling the full story of Oakes's life his fight for Native American self determination and his tragic untimely death This invaluable history chronicles the mid twentieth century rise of Intertribalism Indian Cities and a national political awakening that continues to shape Indigenous politics and activism to this day
