Navajo Nation 1950 Traditional Life In Photographs:

Navajo Nation 1950 Jonathan B. Wittenberg, 2006 In 1950 Jonathan Wittenberg student of biochemistry and biophysics went to live among the Navajo or Dine in New Mexico With a bulky twin lens reflex camera Wittenberg was recording a people and their lives from a time that is essentially unrecorded Navajo Nation 1950 is an incredible historical document that is not only a unique entree to a time and place but a surprisingly fine art foray by an untrained photographic eye Navajo Nation 1950 Jonathan Wittenberg, 2006 Today the Navajos comprise the largest group of Native Americans and live on more than 16 million acres Jonathan Wittenberg has been granted exclusive access into this culture at a pivotal time The photographs include not just portraiture of individuals but daily activities the landscape and special events celebrated Arizona Highways, 2007 The Publishers Weekly, 2006 Picturing Arizona Katherine G. Morrissey, Kirsten Jensen, 2005-10-01 As cultural documents as works of art and as historical records photographs of 1930s Arizona tell a remarkable story They capture enduring visions of the Depression that linger in cultural memory dust storms Okies on their way to California breadlines and ramshackle tent cities They also reflect a more particular experience and a unique perspective This book places the work of local Arizonans alongside that of federal photographers both to illuminate the impact of the Depression on the state s distinctive racial and natural landscapes and to show the influence of differing cultural agendas on the photographic record The more than one hundred images by well known photographers such as Dorothea Lange and Laura Gilpin as well as by an array of less familiar photographers represent a variety of purposes and perspectives from public to personal political to promotional Six essays and three photo essays bring together prominent authorities in history the arts and other fields who provide diverse perspectives on this period in Arizona and American history Viewed together the words and images capture a Depression era Arizona bustling with activity as federally funded construction projects and seasonal agricultural jobs brought migrants and newcomers to the state They convey the celebrations and the struggles of commercial photographers archaeologists city folks farmers tourists native peoples and others in these hard times As the economic strains of the decade reverberated through the state local photographers documented the lives of Arizona residents including those frequently overlooked by historians As this book persuasively shows photographs can conceal as much as they reveal A young Mexican American girl stands in front of a backdrop that hides the outhouse behind her a deeply moving image for what it suggests about the efforts of her family to conceal their economic circumstances Yet this image is a perfect metaphor for all the photographs in this book stories remain hidden but when viewers begin to question what they cannot see pictures resonate more loudly than ever before This book is a history of Arizona written from the photographic record offering a point of view that may differ from the written record From the images and the insights of the authors we can gain a new appreciation of how one state and its indomitable people weathered our nation s toughest times Mac Schweitzer Ann Lane Hedlund, 2025-09-23 This richly illustrated book traces the life and career of Mac Schweitzer 1921 1962 once renowned as a mid twentieth century painter of southwestern scenes wildlife Native American families and craftspeople landscapes and semi abstractions Six decades after the artist s death author Ann Lane Hedlund has rediscovered an artistic legacy full of intriguing stories successful shows and awards and a fascinating diverse body of artwork never before seen in public

A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran,2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art s commodity status and the artist s position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harmoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Naylor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal
