Fast, 2015-11-17 This book invites a conversation among stakeholders of public education and conveys the need for a common vision for America s public schools Amy Fast argues that we have never had a clear purpose for our schools and that now more than ever educators in America ache for a more inspiring purpose than simply improving results on standardized assessments Fast asserts how focusing on the mission instead of simply the mandates and measures is how real change occurs Until we have a common and transparent purpose that serves to inspire those in the trenches of the work reform in public education will continue to flounder Through the examination of our past and current priorities for American schools Fast uncovers a nobler purpose that will intrinsically move educators as well as students to be inspired in their work In turn it is this inspiration not another silver bullet reform that will lead to meaningful change in society Empowering

By exploring identity at this intersection, we invite scholars and practitioners to reconceptualize relationships with students, curriculum, and their varied contexts. Our hope is to encourage authenticity, consciousness, and criticality that will foster more liberating ways of teaching and learning. This collection will be useful for pre- and in-service teachers, teacher educators, and educational researchers. It is a valuable resource for teacher education courses such as Curriculum Studies, Reflexive Practice, Philosophy of Education, Sociology of Education, Teaching Methods, Current Issues in Education, Collaborative Inquiry, and Narrative Inquiry. At the Intersection of Selves and Subject lays bare the deepest underlayers of the teacher self and subject with new energy. The sharing of reflexive inquiries in ethical self-consciousness liberates and unwraps queries into pedagogical practice. This is an important book for all educators but especially for pre-service teachers as they consider or challenge the donning of teacher identity. Pauline Sameshima, Canada Research Chair in Arts Integrated Studies, Lakehead University and Editor in Chief of the Journal of the Canadian Association for Curriculum Studies. A pendant of images and texts, this collection is a dazzling display of Ellyn Lyle's insight that understanding self is a way to understand other and society. That and other affirmations are depicted narratively and theoretically across and within indigeneities, singular, exceptional identities, and paradoxical and inherently political identities. This collection invites us to work from within to reconstruct the self professionally. This pulsating portrait of juxtapositions teaches transpositions and extricates intertextualities. Through
