Taylor Kollman,2025-04-01 In a world that commodifies feminism is adapting romance novels for small and big screen projects and the Romance Writers Association is evolving to a more inclusive representative group it is imperative for researchers to reevaluate the cultural assumptions and gender norming work happening in the romance genre. It is time to question the cultural capital of traditional archetypes, explore the experience of romance readers and question how romance and cultural studies researchers create quantitative, qualitative and mixed methods research. This work centers around a data set collected with a revised version of Janice Radway's Reading the Romance survey that will be shared with all the authors of this anthology. By having access to this pool, authors will have the opportunity to explore different elements of reader experience and cultural norms in romance fiction and potentially reflect on changes since Janice Radway's seminal work. The norms and negotiations readers experience while consuming romance is especially interesting as romancelandia becomes a more mainstream part of popular culture with the popularity of Bridgerton and romance series like Ice Planet Barbarians exploding on BookTok. No other book in romance or popular culture studies identifies a data set as the connecting element and to do so creates an exciting opportunity to create a more inclusive study of popular romance, offer truly interdisciplinary research on the question of how readers read romance and generate diverse areas of future scholarship. This edited volume explores multiple issues in romance fiction based on survey data from real romance readers. An updated version of Janice Radway's influential survey looking at romance readers in the early 1980s, this time scholars explore romance readers' habits and attitudes in the twenty-first century. Each contributor in this volume uses the same survey data to make unique statements about gender, intersectionality, popular fiction and popular culture. By using a common data set but approaching it from different perspectives, this unique volume is able to apply multiple methodologies to the same subject.

Texting Dr Stalker Pepper Winters, 2025-01-09. Texting Dr Stalker is a swoony standalone full of hidden identities, protective doctor neighbors and green flag stalkers. I have a stalker. A masked man who watches me from the shadows. A guardian who says he's there to protect me, to help me heal from almost dying at the hands of another man. He says he's willing to do anything to help me move on. That I needn't be afraid of him. I agree to keep him my secret and share how much I'm truly struggling. In return, he guards me. Even if it means guarding me from himself. I've known her my entire life. She's the girl next door who I share a childhood betrothal with, thanks to our two grandmothers wishing to turn their lifelong friendship into family. I'm also the doctor who tended to her in the ER after her ex tried to kill her. I want to help her in any way I can, but I also know she'll never accept my help because I'm the reason he tried to kill her in the first place. But I can't stand by and see her suffer, so I come up with a plan. A highly illegal plan that ends with me breaking laws, rules and my own heart. Tropes: Doctor, girl next door, childhood friends to lovers, green flag stalker, hidden identity, lots of texts, masked protector would do anything to protect her, standalone, he has a motorcycle, he does things in the dark. A Court So Dark Ingrid Seymour, 2024-02-29.
