Painting the Divine Josef Diaz, Suzanne L. Stratton, New Mexico History Museum, 2014 In Painting the Divine Images of Mary in the New World we selected approximately forty five works from the two principal viceroyalties of the Spanish empire Mexico and Peru that portray key events and moments in the life of Mary as well as examples of various apparitions. We also highlight pieces produced by New Mexican artists who developed hybrid styles distinctly their own combining traditional Christian symbols with unique regional aesthetics. Page 7

In the Hands of Devotees Ximena A. Gómez, 2025-09-09 An exploration of how Indigenous and Black communities shaped religious imagery and navigated life in colonial Lima. Colonial Lima was steeped in Christian devotional imagery. While Spaniards set the norms for these works it was the city's Black and Indigenous majority that engaged with them most. As members of lay societies of worshippers called confraternities subalterns were Lima's key promoters of religious art surpassing the colonial hierarchy. Ximena Gómez argues that by commissioning and exhibiting sacred images in chapels and urban processions adorned with clothing and accessories Indigenous and Black confraternities created Lima's visual culture. In one case study the Indigenous confraternity of the Virgin of Copacabana invisibly transforms a sculpture into an object that reflected its multiethnic Andean caretakers. Another case study that of the confraternity of the Virgin of the Antigua finds Black worshippers initially united in their interpretation of a Spanish image and later fracturing when some of its members applied a West African interpretive lens. Taking advantage of Lima's rich documentary record In the Hands of Devotees centers the ritual practices of Black and Indigenous people and opens possibilities for incorporating subalterns into the history of Lima's art when limited extant visual evidence has survived

Tsakiridou,2024-08-29 This study examines the theories of postmodern visuality and representation and identifies concepts that resonate with Orthodox theology and iconography C A Tsakiridou frees the Orthodox icon from iconological precepts that limit its aesthetic and expressive range The book s key argument is that poststructuralist thought is not alien to Orthodox theology and iconography Dissonance liminality and ambiguity are essential for conveying the paradoxes of Christian faith and recognizing the hagiopneumatic vitality and openness of the Orthodox tradition Perichoresis or coinherence a concept in patristic theology that defines the relationship between the three persons of the Holy Trinity and the two natures of Christ acquires a feminine dimension in the person of the Theotokos Like the ascetical concept of nepsis it has aesthetic implications Intermedial qualities present in iconography photography and cinema help explain how icons become hosts to transcendent realities and how their experience in Orthodox liturgy and devotion has anticipated and resolved the postmodern disorientation of visuality and representation The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history postmodernism philosophy theology religion and gender studies Divine Images Roy Kinnard,Tim Davis,1992
