every student of history and politics in the subcontinent of today This book examines the real underlying historical economic religious and political issues of the Indian subcontinent at a moment in time of decision for its people The debate of why and if a new country of Pakistan should be created or will be created after British rule of India is examined in detail by Afzal Haq His conclusions remain as relevant today as they were in his time The working and middle class in India Pakistan and Bangladesh are still struggling with these same issues in the subcontinent today Written in 1939 and 1940 while imprisoned in Rawalpindi jail and published in 1941 this book is a culmination of Afzal Haq s lifelong thinking about the key issues facing his country and its peoples while under British rule About the Author Chaudhry Afzal Haq was elected twice to Punjab Assembly as a Member of Legislative Assembly starting in 1924 He helped to found Majlis e Ahrar a liberal Muslim political party at the time working to seek social justice and freedom for all Indians regardless of race or religion He was later elected as the second President of Majlis e Ahrar from 1931 1934 Known as Mufakkir e Ahrar The Thinker by this time Chaudhry Afzal Haq was in and out of British prisons for over two decades for openly defying the British Government as a political and moral leader He campaigned and wrote tirelessly focusing his efforts on helping the poor and working class in India during these most desperate of times His life s work included political action on behalf of the common man prison reform and human rights for his fellow Indians

Rethinking untouchability Jesús F. Cháirez-Garza,2024-03-12 This book examines the transformation of untouchability into a political idea in India during the first half of the twentieth century At its heart is Ambedkar s role and the concepts he used to champion untouchability as a political problem Ambedkar s main objective was to comprehend the numerous avatars of untouchability in order to eradicate this practice Ambedkar understood untouchability beyond aspects of ritual purity and pollution by stressing its complex nature and uncovering the political historical racial spatial and emotional characteristics contained in this concept Ambedkar believed the abolition of untouchability depended on a widespread alteration of India s political economic and cultural systems Ambedkar reframed the problem of untouchability by linking it to larger concepts floating in the political environment of late colonial India such as representation slavery race the Indian village internationalism and even the creation of Pakistan

Pakistan and Untouchability AFZAL HAKK,1941 Pakistan and Untouchability Ch Afzal Haq,1941 Dr. Ambedkar and Untouchability Christophe Jaffrelot,2005 For years Ambedkar battled alone against the Indian political establishment including Gandhi who resisted his attempt to formalize and codify a separate identity for the Dalits Nonetheless he became law minister in the first government of independent India and more important was elected chairman of the committee which drafted the Indian Constitution Here he modified Gandhian attempts to influence the Indian polity He then distanced himself from politics and sought solace in Buddhism to which he converted in 1956 a few months before his death Jaffrelot focuses on Ambedkar s three key roles as social theorist as statesman and politician and as an advocate of conversion to Buddhism as an escape route for India s Dalits In each case he pioneered new strategies that proved effective in his lifetime and still resonate
