

Record Red Sea Swim

UK swimmer Lewis Pugh has completed his swim across the Red Sea. This latest accomplishment aims to raise awareness of climate change ahead of COP21.

World leaders will meet in Paris at the end of the year to agree the next climate agreement. Pugh hopes that his record-breaking swim will make them see the importance of protecting the world's seas.

Pugh is the United Nations' (UN) Environment Programme's 'Voice of the Oceans'. He was awarded the title for his contribution to protecting the world's seas.

Lewis Pugh swimming just 1% of the way from Pugh's website claims that if we allow the world's temperature to rise by more than 2.0°C then we risk losing 10% of the coral reefs. Rises of 1.5°C and 0.9°C of it will die out.

At COP20, leaders agreed to continue to strive to limit the global temperature increase to 1.5°C or under. However, the UN's latest report claims that currently we are on track for a 2.0°C rise unless urgent changes are made.

Let's hope that we 'see' a positive outcome from this year's COP meeting that help turn the tide on climate change.

Project in Ghana Aims to Save Chocolate from Climate Change

The cocoa plant is under threat from climate change. And that's bad news for those of us with a sweet tooth.

Cocoa is the main ingredient in chocolate. Countries in West Africa produce around 70% of all the world's cocoa. One of the countries in this area is Ghana. It's the second-largest cocoa-producing country in the world.

However, draughts, rising temperatures and unpredictable rainfall are making it harder to grow cocoa there.

crops and trees all being grown in the same area. Trees are planted around the cocoa to provide it with shade. This helps protect it from scorching heat and rising global temperatures. Other crops are also grown between the rows of cocoa.

Plans that would attack the cocoa plants might lead to the other plants around them. These plants also increase the number of pests in the area.

Rainforest Africa is one of the organisations leading the project. They think agroforestry can help cocoa plants deal with climate change.

It's thought that people in South America were consuming cocoa beans around 1000 years ago but chocolate only came to the UK around 400 years ago and was enjoyed mainly as a drink.

The company J&F Fry it has made the first edible chocolate bar in 1867 and the chocolate was for the cocoa tree in Theobroma cacao which means 'food of the gods'.

Some farmers in Ghana have said that their cocoa trees have died in recent years by more than half.

One of the things being done to help is something called 'agroforestry'.

When you think of an agroforestry farm, it might bring to mind the image of rolling fields of wheat or a similar crop.

Although cocoa comes from a tree, theobroma, are often planted in a similar way that used for growing only one type of crop. Agroforestry is different. It is a mix of food crops for some farmers and for those who like chocolate.
