Royer, 2018-08-21 When I started thinking about building a Faith based curriculum for the early childhood classroom my goal was to create a curriculum that would catch the interest of children 0 Kindergarten See I have worked in the early childhood classroom for almost two decades and while the goal is at the heart of the curriculum I have used the interest it has sparked in our young ones is mild and dulled down at best How can we best instill an excitement to learn in our young ones By making the material and manipulatives hands on and exciting I don't mean by reading a story and pulling out paper puppets on craft sticks although this may be what some children like and want to explore What I mean is presenting values and morals in an explorative manner in conjunction with developmentally appropriate learning standards that help engage your students in learning experiences while getting them excited Including stories and sensory materials story buckets role playing with dress up materials including a variety of mixed media to spark your student's interests is absolutely necessary Create an environment that appeals to learners of various ages backgrounds and learning styles Make your lesson times fun and interesting and your learners will gravitate back for more An Occupational Therapy Practitioner's Guide to School-Based Practice Karel L. Composition and the Rhetoric of Science Michael J Zerbe, 2007-03-21

Composition and the Rhetoric of Science Engaging the Dominant Discourse calls for instructors of first year writing courses to employ primary scientific discourse in their teaching and for rhetoricians of science to think about teaching scientific discourse as a literacy skill Author Michael J Zerbe argues that inclusion of scientific discourse is crucial because of this rhetoric's status as the dominant discourse in western culture The volume draws on Lyotard, Foucault and Althusser to argue that while important theorists such as these have recognized the dominance of scientific discourse rhetoric and composition has not to its detriment The text illustrates that scientific discourse remains a miniscule part of the enterprise of rhetoric and composition and thus the field is not fulfilling its mission of providing students with the writing and reading skills they need to live and work in a science and technology dependent society Zerbe provides an analysis of science popularizations and demonstrates how these works can be used to contextualize primary scientific research He also presents three pedagogical scenarios each built around a carefully chosen accessible example of scientific discourse that demonstrate how articles from scientific journals can be used in writing courses Only by gaining a meaningful fluency in this discourse one that is not offered by science textbooks can a more sophisticated scientific literacy be assured Composition and the Rhetoric of Science effectively explores the relatively limited amount of work done in rhetoric and composition on scientific discourse and questions this state of affairs Zerbe presents for the first time cultural studies and science literacy as gateways for incorporating scientific discourse into first year writing courses
