Don't Knock the Hustle S. Craig Watkins,2019-05-07 Offers a timely analysis of the sheer ingenuity and persistence of young people who cobble together the resources they need to pursue the lives and careers they want Young adults are coming of age at a time when work is temporary underpaid incommensurate with their education or downright unsatisfying Despite these challenges media scholar S Craig Watkins argues that this moment of precarity is rife with opportunities for innovation and that young adults are leading the charge in turning that into an inventive and surprisingly sustainable future As a result society is expanding its understanding of who we think of as innovators and what qualifies as innovation while wealth is spreading beyond traditional corridors of powerful tech companies venture capitalism and well endowed universities Drawing on over ten years of interviews and data Watkins reveals the radical ways in which this community of ambitious young creatives is transforming businesses from the outside in Diverse perspectives that are often ignored or silenced by major corporations are garnering public attention as women and people of color are redefining industries across the globe all from their computer screens We meet people like Prince Harvey a New York based hip hop artist who recorded his album entirely on an Apple showroom laptop screenwriter producer and actor Issa Rae who first used YouTube and Kickstarter to develop the web series that became her hit HBO show Insecure the Empowerment Plan a nonprofit organization created by product design student Veronika Scott in Detroit and start up companies like Qeyno Group in San Francisco and Juegos Rancheros in Austin that help make tech more accessible to people of color Forward thinking and dynamic Don t Knock the Hustle shows the diversity and complexity of a generation on the rise
