Museums In A Digital Age Leicester Readers In Museum Studies:

Museums in a Digital Age Ross Parry, 2013-01-11 The influence of digital media on the cultural heritage sector has been pervasive and profound Today museums are reliant on new technology to manage their collections They collect digital as well as material things New media is embedded within their exhibition spaces And their activity online is as important as their physical presence on site However digital heritage as an area of practice and as a subject of study does not exist in one single place Its evidence base is complex diverse and distributed and its content is available through multiple channels on varied media in myriad locations and different genres of writing It is this diaspora of material and practice that this Reader is intended to address With over forty chapters by some fifty authors and co authors from around the world spanning over twenty years of museum practice and research this volume acts as an aggregator drawing selectively from a notoriously distributed network of content Divided into seven parts on information space access interpretation objects production and futures the book presents a series of cross sections through the body of digital heritage literature each revealing how a different aspect of curatorship and museum provision has been informed shaped or challenged by computing Museums in a Digital Age is a provocative and inspiring guide for any student or practitioner of digital heritage Museum Object

Lessons for the Digital Age Haidy Geismar, 2018-05-14 Museum Object Lessons for the Digital Age explores the nature of digital objects in museums asking us to question our assumptions about the material social and political foundations of digital practices Through four wide ranging chapters each focused on a single object a box pen effigy and cloak this short accessible book explores the legacies of earlier museum practices of collection older forms of media from dioramas to photography and theories of how knowledge is produced in museums on a wide range of digital projects Swooping from Ethnographic to Decorative Arts Collections from the Google Art Project to bespoke digital experiments Haidy Geismar explores the object lessons contained in digital form and asks what they can tell us about both the past and the future Drawing on the author's extensive experience working with collections across the world Geismar argues for an understanding of digital media as material rather than immaterial and advocates for a more nuanced ethnographic and historicised view of museum digitisation projects than those usually adopted in the celebratory accounts of new media in museums By locating the digital as part of a longer history of material engagements transformations and processes of translation this book broadens our understanding of the reality effects that digital technologies create and of how digital media can be mobilised in different parts of the world to very different effects Handbook of Research on Examining Cultural Policies Through Digital Communication Önay

Dogan, Betül, Gül Ünlü, Derya, 2018-11-09 Culture is one of the most important elements for explaining individuals behaviors within the social structure It meets the various social needs of members of a society by directing how individuals must react to various events and how to act in specific circumstances A planned and systematic process is required for disseminating this cultural accumulation as a policy which is produced collectively by all members within their everyday life practices The

Handbook of Research on Examining Cultural Policies Through Digital Communication provides emerging research on this aspect of cultural policy which is formed within the framework of this systematic process in a strategic manner and can be defined as various activities of the state intended for art human sciences and cultural inheritance Creating such cultural policies involves the establishment of measures and organizations required for the development of each individual providing economic and social facilities all of which are actions intended for directing society Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as long distance education digital citizenship and public diplomacy this book is ideally designed for academicians researchers advanced level students sociologists international and national organizations and government officials

Engaging Heritage, Engaging Communities Bryony Onciul,Michelle L. Stefano,Stephanie Hawke,2017 International multi disciplinary perspectives on the key question of community engagement in theory and practice in a diverse range of heritage settings Across the global networks of heritage sites museums and galleries the importance of communities to the interpretation and conservation of heritage is increasingly being recognised Yet the very term meaningful community engagement betrays a myriad of contrary approaches and understandings Who is a community How can they engage with heritage and why would they want to How do communities and heritage professionals perceive one another What does itmean to engage These questions unsettle the very foundations of community engagement and indicate a need to unpick this important but complex trend Engaging Heritage Engaging Communities critically explores the latest debates and practices surrounding community collaboration By examining the different ways in which communities participate in heritage projects the book questions the benefits costs and limitations of community engagement Whether communities are engaging through innovative initiatives or in response to economic political or social factors there is a need to understand how such engagements are conceptualised facilitated and experienced by boththe organisations and the communities involved Bryony Onciul is Lecturer in History at the University of Exeter Michelle Stefano is the Co Director of Maryland Traditions the folklife program for the state of Maryland and Visiting Assistant Professor in American Studies at the University of Maryland Baltimore County Stephanie Hawke is a project manager and fundraiser working on a range of projects aiming to engage communities with culturalheritage Contributors Gregory Ashworth Evita Busa Helen Graham Julian Hartley Stephanie Hawke Carl Hogsden Shatha Abu Khafajah Nicole King Bernadette Lynch Billie Lythberg Conal McCarthy Ashley Minner Wayne Ngata Bryony Onciul Elizabeth Pishief Gregory Ramshaw Philipp Schorch Justin Sikora Michelle Stefano Helen Tully John Tunbridge Research on e-Learning and ICT in Education Charalampos Karagiannidis,Panagiotis Politis,Ilias Karasavvidis,2014-08-07 An essential text for researchers and academics seeking the most comprehensive and up to date coverage of all aspects of e learning and ICT in education this book is a multidisciplinary forum covering technical pedagogical organizational instructional and policy aspects of the topic Representing the best peer reviewed papers from the 8th Panhellenic Conference on ICT in Education special emphasis is given to applied research relevant to educational practice and guided by the educational realities in schools colleges universities and informal learning organizations The volume encompasses the current trends and issues which determine and inform the integration of ICT in educational practice including educational software educational games collaborative learning virtual learning environments social networks learning analytics digital museums as well as the evolution of e learning Digital History and Hermeneutics Andreas Fickers,Juliane Tatarinov,2022-06-21 As a result of rapid advancements in computer science during recent decades there has been an increased use of digital tools methodologies and sources in the field of digital humanities While opening up new opportunities for scholarship many digital methods and tools now used for humanities research have nevertheless been developed by computer or data sciences and thus require a critical understanding of their mode of operation and functionality The novel field of digital hermeneutics is meant to provide such a critical and reflexive frame for digital humanities research by acquiring digital literacy and skills A new knowledge for the assessment of digital data research infrastructures analytical tools and interpretative methods is needed providing the humanities scholar with the necessary munition for doing critical research The Doctoral Training Unit Digital History and Hermeneutics at the University of Luxembourg applies this analytical frame to 13 PhD projects By combining a hermeneutic reflection on the new digital practices of humanities scholarship with hands on experimentation with digital tools and methods new approaches and opportunities as well as limitations and flaws can be addressed Curating Art Janet Marstine,Oscar Ho Hing Kay,2021-12-30 Curating Art provides insight into some of the most socially and politically impactful curating of historical and contemporary art since the late 1990s It offers up a museological framework for understanding watershed developments of curating in art museums Representing the plurality of theory and practice around the expanded field of relational curating the book focuses on curating that prioritises the quality of relationships between people and objects between institutions and people and among people It has wide international breadth with particularly strong representation in East and Southeast Asia including four papers never before translated into English This Asian cluster illuminates the globalisation of the field and challenges dichotomies of East and West while acknowledging distinctions within specific but often transnational cultural spheres The compelling philosophical perspectives and case studies included within Curating Art will be of interest to students and researchers studying curating exhibition development and art museums The book will also inspire current and emerging curators to pose challenging but important questions about their own practice and the relationships that this work sustains Recoding the Museum Ross Parry,2007 Why has it taken so long to make computers work for the museum sector And why are museums still having some of the same conversations about digital technology that they began back in the late 1960s Does there continue to be a basic incompatibility between the practice of the museum and the functions of the computer that explains this disconnect Drawing upon an impressive range of professional and theoretical sources this book offers one of the first substantial histories of museum computing Its ambitious narrative attempts to explain a series of essential tensions between curatorship and the digital realm Ultimately it reveals how through the emergence of standards increased coordination and celebration rather than fearing of the virtual the sector has experienced a broadening of participation a widening of creative horizons and ultimately has helped to define a new cultural role for museums Having confronted and understood its past what emerges is a museum transformed rescripted re calibrated rewritten reorganised

Museums in the Digital Age Susana Smith Bautista,2013-11-26 Museums in the Digital Age Changing Meanings of Place Community and Culture showcases how the use of technology in museums should be understood as factors directly related to the museums notion of community local culture and place whether these places are in mid America urban metropolises or ethnically diverse and underserved communities Here museum expert Susana Smith Bautista brings more than twenty years of experience in cultural institutes in Los Angeles New York and Greece to propose a social understanding of why museums should be adopting technology and how it should be adapted based on their particular missions communities and places This book is timely because we are in the midst of the digital age which is rapidly changing due to rapidly changing developments in technology and society as well with social adaptations of technology Theory is always racing to catch up with practice in the digital age but theory remains a critical and often neglected component to accompany the practical application of technology in museums In order to illustrate these points the book presents five case studies of the most technologically advanced art museums in the United States today The Indianapolis Museum of ArtThe Walker Art CenterThe San Francisco Museum of Modern ArtThe Museum of Modern ArtThe Brooklyn Museum Each case study ends with a Lessons Learned section to bring these points home While the case studies focus on museums in the United States and also on art museums this book is relevant to all types of museums and to museums all over the world as they equally face the challenge of incorporating technology into their institutions Although these case studies are all well established and well endowed museums Bautista reveals valuable insight into the difficulties they face and the questions they are asking which are relevant to even the smallest museum or community cultural center eCulture Alfredo M. Ronchi,2009-03-10 Do virtual museums really provide added value to end users or do they just contribute to the abundance of images Does the World Wide Web save endangered cultural heritage or does it foster a society with less variety These and other related questions are raised and answered in this book the result of a long path across the digital heritage landscape It provides a comprehensive view on issues and achievements in digital collections and cultural content
