Engaging Communities in Museums David Allison, 2019-10-24 Engaging Communities in Museums is designed for museum professionals who are hungry for information about how to design experiences in partnership with their communities Providing an overview of the many ways that museums around the world have begun to listen more attentively to their audience the book highlights the importance of listening to community and discusses the idea of relationship building as an entry point to relevancy Drawing on interviews and discussions with museum professionals around the world as well as tangible real world examples Allison showcases the many ways that museums both large and small are actively working with their communities and also provides a roadmap that demonstrates how museum professionals can listen more effectively to their audiences as they craft new experiences The book also explores the fascinating nexus of community engagement and exhibit and experience development thus taking museum professionals on a journey of discovery around community responsiveness and attention to audience Engaging Communities in Museums provides a thorough comparison of development models from disparate venues making the book a must read for museum professionals who are looking for purpose and common sense techniques that can guide their work with the communities that they serve Students in museum studies courses will also find the text useful as a primer on community engagement in museums

Rural Museums and

Their Communities Lydia Johnson, 2000 Museums and Source Communities Laura Lynn Peers, Alison Kay Brown, 2003 The growth of collaboration between museums and source communities the people from whom collections originate is an important development in modern museum practice This volume combines influential published research with commissioned essays on the issues problems and lessons involved Communities and Museums in the 21st Century Karen Brown, Alissandra Cummins, Ana S. González Rueda, 2023-08-18 Communities and Museums in the 21st Century brings together innovative multidisciplinary perspectives on contemporary museology and participatory museum practice that contribute to wider debates on museum communities heritage and sustainability Set within the context of globalisation and decolonisation this book draws upon bi regional research that will enrich our understanding of the complex relationships between Europe Latin America and the Caribbean through museum studies and practice Chapters reflect upon the role of museums in defining community identities the importance of young people s participation and intergenerational work for sustainability the role of museums in local development and community based museums and climate change Contributors examine these issues through the lens of museum partnerships and practices as well as testing the continued relevance of the notion of integral museum and its relatives in the form of ecomuseums With its focus on regional museums in Latin America and Caribbean this book highlights how the case studies promote greater intercultural dialogue global understanding and social cohesion It also demonstrates how the methodology can be adapted to other communities who are facing the perils of climate change and unsustainable forms of development Communities and Museums in the 21st Century proposes creative and sustainable strategies relevant to a globalised future With its focus on global societal challenges this book will appeal to museologists and museum practitioners as well as those working in heritage studies cultural studies memory studies art history gender studies and sustainable development The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Museums and Source Communities Alison K. Brown, Laura Peers, 2005-06-28 This volume combines some of the most influential published research in this emerging field with newly commissioned essays on the issues problems and lessons involved in collaborating museums and source communities Focusing on museums in the UK North America and the Pacific the book highlights three areas which demonstrate the new developments most clearly the museum as field site or contact zone a place which source community members enter for purposes of consultation and collaboration visual repatriation the use of photography to return images of ancestors historical moments and material heritage to source communities exhibition case studies these are discussed to reveal the implications of cross cultural and collaborative research for museums and how such projects have challenged established attitudes and practices As the first overview of its kind this collection will be essential reading for museum staff working with source communities for community members involved with museum programmes and for students and academics in museum studies and social anthropology Museums in Motion Juilee Decker, 2024-08-06

This book explores the histories and functions of museums while also looking at the current standing of museums and their ongoing efforts toward relevance, resiliency, and future proofing. Section I examines the beginnings of museums with chapters dedicated to art and design museums, natural history and anthropological museums, science museums, museums focused on history and the past, and gardens, zoos, and children's museums. Emphasis is on museums in the United States with some historical framing beyond the U.S. Section II explores the primary functions of museums including conservation, exhibition, interpretation, engagement, and service. Section III examines museums from within by exploring critical issues and contemporary movements facing museums and our society: transparency and openness, labor and equity, belonging and coalition building, risk taking and risk aversion, and sustainability and empathy. Advocating for change rather than death to museums. Museums in Motion demonstrates the very premise that museums have been in motion all along as they have shifted from their rather simple form of a treasury storehouse and tomb to something much more complex by deeply considering where museums have come from, where they are today, and where they are going. Entirely new to this edition. Section III, Museum Aspirations, features five new chapters each centered around topics rather than a museum type or museum function. Each topic is meant to be a micro narrative and springboard for a conversation about museums today and their sustainability in the future. The chapters examine museums from the inside: museum workers and their voices, especially as well as power held by people and institutions, and DEI/AA without using those individual words as chapter headings. On their own or in conjunction with the chapters in the previous sections of this book, these chapters serve as vignettes that can help readers to understand where, how, and why we need to apply critical lenses to institutions and articulate how doing so helps us to understand this historical moment and ultimately how we can realize resiliency and sustainability for museums and those who make their existence possible.

The Civic Mission of Museums Anthony Pennay, 2020-12-15. Museums have long sought to maintain relevance in the daily lives of their communities. Over the past several decades, museums have shifted as a field from a focus on collections to a focus on connecting with audiences. More recently, museums must confront political polarization and a decreasing sense of trust in nearly every public institution. As a result, few institutions are better positioned to serve the country than museums. In fact, polls show that museums rank among the most trusted institutions in the country regardless of political belief. During tumultuous times, this trust means that museums have a unique and important responsibility to fulfill their civic mission. A century ago, John Cotton Dana argued that the most important thing a museum can do is produce a public benefit. The Civic Mission of Museums argues that museums play an essential role in the cultivation of engaged and informed citizens. The book outlines a spectrum of civic learning that includes civic knowledge, civic mindset, civic skillset, and civic action. It offers concrete examples of impactful civic programming, exhibits, and public engagement from a diverse set of museums. It ends with a practical toolkit gleaned from across the country for museum professionals to utilize Museum News Laurence Vail Coleman, Mary Bronson Hartt, 1924 Transforming Practice Joanne S Hirsch, Lois H Silverman, 2017-07-28 Transforming Practice a comprehensive collection of articles from Museum Education Roundtable's Journal of Museum Education presents a rich and exemplary selection of writing in one accessible resource Each of the book's four sections includes an introductory essay sparks excerpted from each article that alone might ignite debate reflections by some of the authors looking back on their work and discussion questions Four case studies in the final section highlight the fascinating interplay among change response and understanding Transforming Practice is a professional development tool a resource for museum training programs small museums staffs practitioner groups and friends to inspire conversation critique debate and your own writing As Stephen E Weil writes in his foreword this book reveals the richness of ideas the dedication to excellence and the extraordinary depth and variety of talents to be found among this generation of museum educators Sponsored by the Museum Education Roundtable This title is sponsored by The Museum Education Roundtable The Museum Education Roundtable MER is a non profit organization based in Washington DC dedicated to enriching and promoting the field of Museum Education Through publications programs and communication networks MER fosters professionalism encourages leadership scholarship and research in museum based learning and advocates the inclusion and application of museum based learning in the general education arena For more information on MER and its activities please contact via email at info@meronline.com or on the web at www.meronline.org Members receive the Journal of Museum Education as a benefit of membership Write to MER at PO Box 15727 Washington DC 20003 The Museum Accessibility Spectrum Alison F. Eardley, Vanessa E. Jones, 2025-01-16 The Museum Accessibility Spectrum engages with discussions around access to museums and argues that what is impairing the progress of museums towards inclusion is the current ableist model of access Drawing on contributors from international museum researchers practitioners artists and activists this volume challenges the notion of the core able museum visitor and instead proposes all individuals are positioned on a multidimensional Accessibility Spectrum which incorporates intersecting physical sensory neurodivergent and social and cultural dimensions It explores the ways in which access provisions designed to enhance the experience of a minority can enhance the museum experience for all visitors A constructively critical approach is taken to practice based chapters using case studies and approaches from around the globe split into three main sections Within the Disability Gain section the authors consider the benefits of inclusive design perspectives and practice for all visitors to the museum sector The Social and Cultural Inclusion section examines ways in which museums have broadened representation and participation to better serve audiences who have been excluded or underrepresented by the museums Finally the Agents of Social Change section considers how with this work museums are challenging systemic biases and exclusions The international cross disciplinary contributions in this volume are driven by research informed practice and will transform existing thinking to change future practice within the museum sector by challenging this ableist bias This book will be of interest and importance not only to museum practitioners and researchers but also to readers with an interest in cultural studies critical disability studies translation studies and inclusive and universal design The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
