

ONE LEG STRETCH

This beginner-level exercise strengthens the abdominal muscles with a mixture of coordination and reciprocal leg movements. Performing this exercise creates a base for our everyday lower-limb movements such as walking, running, and cycling.

THE BIG PICTURE

The exercise works your core strength in relation to the long leg bones. It can be used to prepare for Double Leg Stretch (see p.66). Maintain your head, trunk, and pelvic position throughout the exercise and ensure you do not rotate to the side. Become familiar with the movement first before adding in the breathing. Complete 30 repetitions.

Preparation Stage

For the set-up, raise both legs and bring knee and hipbones apart, but the rest of the feet and arms extended to your sides. Place each leg up on the table top position (thighs perpendicular to wall), with arms pressed. Rotate torso for one leg and lift head up, and reach your hands to touch the outside of your lower leg, with palms facing towards table in prep.

Caution
The exercise is not suitable for those with lower back or hip pain. If you are pregnant or have a medical condition, consult your doctor before doing this exercise. Do not breathe the air.
