President (1981-1989 : Reagan),.,1988 Principles of tax policy Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee,2011-03-15 The Treasury Committee welcomes the Government s commitment to a new approach to tax policy making designed to support its ambition for a more predictable stable and simple system But the Government has not done enough to set out the principles underlying that policy The Committee attempts to identify these principles and considers how tax policy can best support growth A tax system which is theoretically structured to promote growth will not succeed if businesses are faced with constant change or if the inefficiency of collection outweighs any benefits The report warns that a tax system which is felt to be fundamentally unfair will quickly lose political support It also notes that the scope for tax arbitrage has grown substantially over the last quarter of a century and globalisation is likely to increase it further A tax system which is not competitive by international standards will not support growth Competitiveness is also not a simple matter of tax rates although they have a bearing but of the stability of the system as a whole The report recommends that tax policy should be measured by reference to the following principles Tax policy should be fair support growth and encourage competition provide certainty provide stability be practicable so that a person s tax liability should be easy to calculate and straightforward and cheap to collect be coherent new provisions should complement the existing tax system not conflict with it
