Mental Health Tips Remote Jobs Compare:

Expatriates and Managing Global Mobility Soo Min Toh, Angelo DeNisi, 2022-09-23 Multinational enterprises continue to rely heavily upon expatriates as part of their global workforce. These expatriates whose exact employment contract may take different forms are assigned to help them develop global skills as well as to foster knowledge transfer. But managing this expatriate workforce is extremely complex, requiring a questioning of assumptions and sensitivity to new social and cultural dynamics. This book sets out to examine the problem of expatriate management through an I/O Psychology lens. Each chapter draws upon the expertise of scholars from around the world to provide insights into the latest research findings and remaining needs pertaining to a wide variety of issues. The contributors of this book review the current state of the research of the issue at hand and then make recommendations for where the new frontiers of the research should be in the coming decades. This volume covers four sets of issues pertaining to expatriate management and global mobility in depth: First, the different decision points organizations must make about assigning someone to an overseas location for some period of time; second, the different categories of employees in the multinational corporation and their unique characteristics and challenges; third, the various issues and implications of managing a globally mobile workforce; and fourth, the unique contexts of global mobility. Overarching future research themes are identified that lay out the research agenda for the coming decades. By bringing together key research, this book aims to help I/O psychologists understand, explore, and identify new ways of contributing to the understanding of the issues involved in managing an expatriate workforce. Incorporating state-of-the-art I/O psychology research in this unique context bears the promise of yielding important new paradigms and practices. Support for Armed Forces Veterans in Wales Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Welsh Affairs Committee, 2013-02-12 This Report examines whether the level of support provided to Armed Forces veterans in Wales both immediately before they leave the service and once they return to civilian life is adequate The key recommendation is that the Welsh Government take forward proposals to establish a network of one stop shops for veterans across Wales A great deal of support is available for veterans in Wales but often a lack of awareness means that support is not taken up A one stop shop for veterans would be a convenient way for veterans to access information and receive advice on a range of important issues such as housing finances and employment To avoid duplication however the Welsh Government needs to take into account the support launched or planned by local authorities as part of their Community Covenants There should also be better co ordination of the work done by the many charities supporting veterans In the light of recent court cases which have illustrated the need for vigilance to prevent fraudsters taking advantage of the public's willingness to give to veterans charities there should be much more stringent inspection of charities finances There is also concern about charities providing treatments for complex psychological issues that do not meet NICE guidelines The regulation of charities may be insufficiently robust in this area The Charity Commission should insist that veterans charities which offer medical psychological or counselling services provide documentation from the relevant professional bodies to confirm that they have the appropriate endorsement for the services they offer
