Groth, Katherine Spangler, 2004 Written from a constructivist viewpoint this popular book for future teachers of children from preschool through the primary grades focuses on how young children construct literacy and how teachers can support and guide that activity through developmentally appropriate teaching practices Advocates giving children a choice of the reading material from which they will learn and caution against grouping children solely by literacy ability Examines current research into emergent and holistic literacy and tie its findings to instructional practices that teach such skills as phonemic awareness phonics and spelling within the context of meaningful reading and writing tasks Increased coverage of assessment emphasizes performance based alternatives to standardized testing during early childhood and examines current recommendations in terms of developmentally appropriate practice Provides a strong explanation of shared and interactive writing Discusses literacy development in infants and toddlers For future or current teachers interested in literacy or reading methods in early childhood Childhood, Well-Being and a Therapeutic Ethos Richard House, Del Loewenthal, 2018-04-17 A key theme of this book is that we urgently need a therapeutic ethos in order to bring both educational and therapeutic sensibilities to bear on the issue of children's wellbeing if truly effective and appropriate policy responses to the current malaise are to be fashioned Not least we must pay particular attention to childhood experience showing that scientific and technical developments are always secondary to the resources of the human soul if we are to minimize the extent to which today's children will need therapy as adults This will entail moving beyond narrowly mechanistic definitions of and ways of thinking about well being and the psychological therapies This book offers pointers to the kinds of arguments that can inform what is rapidly becoming a central concern of politicians and policy makers The Classical Weekly, 1908 Army-Navy-Air Force Register and
